Chapleau Battles Port Colborne for Top Fishing Town

Winter fishing at its best: Michel Plourde with two keepers.

by Janet Broomhead

It's 5:00 a.m. on Saturday morning, and I'm staring at my computer screen. I've set the alarm clock in order to get up and vote during the graveyard shift (midnight to 6:00 a.m.) in the WFN Ultimate Fishing Town Canada Contest. I've been doing this every day since the contest started on April 12, voting four times per day during the voting periods, like clockwork.

One might question my sanity. However, I can see that there are other Chapleauites who feel the same way I do about our hometown. The voting counter clicks and another vote for Chapleau is cast. We're not crazy. Just devoted.

I am amazed by the support shown by the people of this town as we struggle to win this contest. First of all, we are the underdogs in this competition. At the moment, our rival in the Central division is Port Colborne, which has a population almost ten times greater than Chapleau. But then again, this is more than a contest, isn't it?

As the Economic Development Specialist for the Township of Chapleau, I was encouraged when the Town Council supported our request to enter the town in the contest. Our community has faced economic and political challenges, and many issues have divided us. This competition is bringing the community together.

Check out the 25 supporting nominations for Chapleau found on WFN's website. They represent a genuine desire on the part of the people who live here to tell the country that Chapleau is a great place to go fishing and a great place to live.

Back to the computer now, and Chapleau has taken the lead! In fact, at one point over the weekend, we are third in Canada, behind Port

A nice little catch of walleye and perch.

Hardy and Port Renfrew, the BC leaders in the Western division. We reach a point when the number of votes surpasses the number of people in Chapleau!

It will be hard to keep the lead in the coming weeks. For me, it will mean more time spent during the wee hours at the computer. But I'm hooked on this contest, just like I'm hooked on Chapleau. And I can see from each vote on the website counter that most of you feel the same way: that the spirit of community is a cause worth fighting for.

Chapleau affronte Port Colborne à titre de Ville de pêche par excellence

Par Janet Broomhead

C'est samedi à 5h du matin et me voilà installée devant l'écran de mon ordinateur. Au coup du réveille-matin je me suis levée pour inscrire mon vote au cours du quart horaire de nuit (de minuit à 6h) dans le cadre du concours WFN de la Ville de pêche par excellence du Canada. C'est une routine que je pratique machinalement depuis que le concours a été lancé, soit le 12 avril, en votant quatre fois par jour à tous les jours de vote.

Est-ce que je dépasse la mesure du bon sens? Peut-être, mais je constate bien qu'il y en a d'autres comme moi, des fanatiques de Chapleau. Le compteur de votes s'enclenche encore une fois et voilà un autre vote qui s'ajoute pour notre village. Des cinglés, dites-vous? Non, simplement des passionnés.

Au cours de cette course, je suis épatée de voir l'immense appui manifesté par mes concitoyens pour leur village. Il faut souligner que nous sommes les moins favorisés de cette compétition. À ce moment notre adversaire dans la division Centrale est Port Colborne, ville dix fois plus peuplée que la nôtre. Mais, n'est-ce pas vrai qu'il s'agisse de plus qu'un simple concours?

En ma qualité de spécialiste au Développement économique pour le canton de Chapleau, j'ai été très encouragée lorsque la municipalité approuva notre demande de participer au-dit concours. Notre collectivité a dû affronter des défis à la fois politiques et économiques, et certaines questions nous ont divisés. Ce concours a eu l'effet de nous rassembler.

Allez voir les 25 articles d'appui en faveur de Chapleau sur le site web de WFN. Ils témoignent d'un ardent désir d'annoncer au pays entier que Chapleau se distingue non seulement par sa pêche sportive, mais aussi par le fait qu'il fait bon vivre ici.

De retour à l'ordinateur: voilà Chapleau qui mène! En effet, à un moment donné au cours de la fin de semaine, nous sommes classés troisième au Canada, derrière Port Hardy et Port Renfrew, les meneurs de la Colombie Britannique de la division de l'Ouest. À un certain moment, le nombre de votes a même surpassé le nombre d'habitants à Chapleau!

Il sera difficile de rester en tête au cours des prochaines semaines. Pour ma part, il faudra que je passe plus de temps devant l'ordinateur aux petites heures du matin. Mais je suis devenue une mordue de ce concours, tout comme je suis une mordue de Chapleau.

Et je vois par le nombre de votes qui s'accumule au compteur que vous êtes aussi du même avis-qu'il vaut la peine de se battre pour sa communauté.

Chapleau museum opened as centennial project on July 1, 1967 with the sun shining in all its glory used for arts and crafts fall fair

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

A major event at the Chapleau Centennial Museum in the 1970s was the community's annual arts and crafts fall fair founded by Walter and Kathleen Broomhead.

Eventually the fair outgrew the space in the museum, but Mrs. Broomhead, who served as president for several years, was also instrumental in bringing CBC Radio personality Leon Mangoff to Chapleau to officially open the fair and participate in the activities.

Even though Mr. Mangoff hosted his show from the old CBC Radio headquarters on Church Street in Toronto, it was directed to Northern Ontario and he was a very popular personality, and to have his show originate from Chapleau, was quite an event in itself.

The museum

was officially opened on July 1, 1967 as Chapleau's Centennial project, joining Canadian Pacific Railway steam engine 5433 which had been placed in the park on Monk Street in 1964.

For newcomers to Chapleau, Ross, Frank and Karen are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Broomhead.

Arthur Grout, who had purchased Engine 5433 from the CPR and had it brought to Chapleau, chaired the Centennial project committee, which also included the creation of the Rotary Table and the Centennial Park.

As part of the park project Mr. and Mrs. Grout landscaped the area around the engine and provided it with a proper railway bed. Also installed were ornamental walks, a fountain with its ornaments and the flag poles and lighting system. They entered into an agreement with the municipal council of the day for the care of the engine and park.

On August 23, 1964, Engine 5433 was moved to its home in the park. In Chapleau Trails, Dr. Bill Pellow describes how it was done. A temporary track "was built from the shop across the existing yard and main line tracks and assisted by the yard switch engine this feat was accomplished...." Earle Freeborn, a former mayor of Chapleau, was the engineer on the diesel yard engine while J.M. "Bud Park was engineer on Engine 5433.

N.R. Crump, then the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who had worked in Chapleau at one time with the railway, was on hand for the ceremony officially placing engine 5433 in the park.

The museum building gradually added artifacts, and in its early years was used by the Chapleau Chamber of Commerce who also provided tourist information. Mrs. Myrtle Delaney supervised it in the summer months.

In 1973, spearheaded by Councillors Ernie Gilbert and Dr. G.E. Young, the township decided to establish a museum board, and Eileen McRea became the first curator, and she was succeeded by Mrs. Dorleen Collings. More displays were added and the basement utilized. Displays and artifacts reflected business, industry and people of Chapleau.

I recall that museum board meetings could be lively affairs in the 1970s when I was an ex-officio member during my years as reeve of Chapleau.

At one meeting, for example, where the discussion wandered to the Chapleau roots of the board members, I was challenged by a member who said, "You are not from Chapleau. You were not born here, and our family arrived here before yours too."

Quite true. I was born in Hamilton and my mother's parents George and Edith Hunt, had come to Chapleau from the United Kingdom just before World War I,

Raising the flags for the museum's 30th anniversary (courtesy Doug Greig)

with their children, Muriel, my mother, and my aunt Elsie. My father, Jim, though was born in Chapleau in 1914. (Dr. Young, a member of the board, was also born in Chapleau in 1914.)

However, the board member, who had been born in Chapleau, had forgotten that my grandmother, Lil Morris, was a Mulligan and her family arrived in Chapleau in 1885 with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Imagine the lengths one would go to prove their Chapleau connection. But it was all in good fun and other board members shared their Chapleau roots.

At the official opening of the museum on July 1, 1967, the day dawned "with a morning of solid rain" according to a Sudbury Star story. However, "it was a welcome sight to see the sun shine in all its glory" in time for the opening ceremonies attended by hundreds of Chapleau citizens. Mr. Grout chaired the activities while Terry Way-White was reeve of Chapleau.

Thanks to Doug Greig for his assistance. My email is mj.morris@live.ca

Murray Arnill's 80th Birthday

"The Rev. Murray Arnill, former pastor of Trinity United Church, Chapleau, enjoys a laugh with his sister, Elva, at a celebration of his 80th birthday. Over 150 friends and relatives, including some from Chapleau, gathered in Uxbridge earlier this month to mark the occasion."

By George Evans

Many people in Chapleau still fondly remember Murray Arnill, the minister of Trinity United Church, Chapleau, from 1966 to 1972. During his stay here, he not only added Trinity Hall to his church, he became Chairman of the Chapleau Board of Education, and he spear-headed, through the Rotary Club, the revival of Chapleau's Winter Carnival.

A couple of Saturdays ago, an 80th Birthday Party took place in Uxbridge, where Murray now lives. His first-born, Catherine, organized her siblings, Tim, Barbie, and Mark, the four spouses, and 12 of Murray's grandchildren to decorate the hall, to greet, to cater to, and to clean up after the more than one hundred and fifty well-wishers who converged on the hall of Uxbridge's Trinity United Church on April 9.

They came from every congregation that Murray had ever served. A huge delegation came down from North Bay and there were also people from Kapuskasing, Chapleau, the Manitoulin, and south-western Ontario. Beth Dunne, formerly of Chapleau and now in North Bay was there.

As congratulations were extended and memories were shared, Murray sat in the chair of honour. His infectious laugh and the ever-mischievous twinkle of his eyes showed his delight. His mind and his spirit were as keen as ever.

Since leaving Chapleau almost four decades ago, the Reverend Murray Arnill has become the Reverend Murray Arnill, Doctor of Divinity. Don't let the fancy title fool you: he's still Murray.

Qu'est ce qui se passe au Vault?

Par Mélanie Wissell
Lors du congé de mars, le Vault a planifié plusieurs activités; la plupart avec beaucoup de succès. À cause de plusieurs tournois, et voyage hors de ville, quelques activités planifiées ont dues être annulées à cause d'une manque d'intérêt, mais les enfants ont eu du plaisir!

Pour accommoder l'horaire et le temps libre des enfants, les heures d'ouverture du Vault ont été modifiées de 13h - 17h et de 18h - 21h.

Le mardi (15 mars), l'activité planifiée était un jeu de ballon chasseur. Un total de 16 enfants a participé à cette activité. Celle-ci a été un succès et plusieurs jeunes ont eu du plaisir.

Le mercredi (16 mars), l'activité planifiée était une soirée de jeux. Il y a eu une participation minimale pour celle-ci.

Le jeudi (17 mars), il y avait une joute hockey d'organisée, mais à cause d'un manque de participation ceci n'a pas pu se passer.

Le vendredi (18 mars), il y a eu une présentation du film 'The Karate Kid' sur le grand écran dans la salle communautaire. Un total de treize enfants a participé à cette activité. Des rafraîchissements ont été disponibles par la cantine de l'arène et je vous remercie pour cela.

Finalement, le samedi (19 mars), le

Vault a organisé une soirée pour cuisiner des muffins aux bleuets et des biscuits au chocolat et pékans. Un total de douze participants a eu le plaisir de déguster 24 muffins aux bleuets et 4 douzaines de biscuits. Quelques uns ont même eu la chance d'en apporter à la maison.

Finalement, le Vault a organisé une joute de hockey le 9 avril 2011, pour remplacer la joute qui n'a pas pu prendre place durant le congé de mars. Le jeu a commencé à 17 h et consistait de deux équipes de 3 garçons. L'équipe numéro 1 consistait de Alex Nicol, Nikko Eisner et Karl Cuthbert. L'équipe numéro 2 consistait de Joshua Joyal, Adam Macdonald et Brandon Cockburn. Il y avait aussi deux arbitres, Garren Landry - Marsh et Jordan Donovan. Les gagnants de la joute étaient l'équipe numéro 2 et le pointage était 10 à 9. Cette joute était en fait très proche! Cette activité a été un succès et il va en avoir plusieurs autres dans le futur.
