Our Museum: Don't Remove, Just Improve

by Michael Levesque

This article was originally to be a simple summary of the last museum study group meeting, but the latest actions of town Council altered our focus and require a response.

By now many are aware of Council's decision to remove all financial support to the town's museum. This is the bean counter's solution to economic hard times and it lacks any consideration of what people value. Faced with an aging infrastructure, a declining population, fewer tax dollars and limited economic prospects, Council is compelled to take a hard look at the budget and 'trim the fat'. This is called 'fiscal responsibility'. It is fiscal but not fully responsible.

Why are cultural and heritage programs, such as the museum and recreation facilities, such as "The Field of Dreams", the first cut? I guess Council can put a price on town history and sports. We obviously can't afford either. The speed of these decisions reveals a lack of reflection. Did Council work out the details or was it simply a knee jerk acceptance of a consultant's recommendations.

When implementing budgetary cuts you place everything on the table, cost each item thoroughly, explore options, then decide - a decision based on data. Several reports were submitted to Council outlining the need to renovate the museum; the building is whetted which caused numerous problems to the structure, photos, and artifacts. I do not know if Council took the time to study the reports or price the suggestions. Seems they merely thought the place was not worth the effort to restore.

How did the museum decay? Through the negligence of Council over many years. No plan was ever implemented to regularly repair the museum to minimize the cost. Is this responsible? Council's new motto should be "Don't improve, just remove!"

The museum is a repository of the town's history and many people feel strongly about the building and what it represents. Were citizens consulted to measure public sentiment? Did Council bother to

Reliant announces commencement of drilling at its Borden Lake South Property

MW Reliant Gold Corporation is pleased to announce that Probe Mines Limited has commenced exploration on the Company's 100%-owned Borden Lake South Property (the "Property"), for which Probe has entered into an option agreement to acquire up to a 70% interest. The exploration program entails the diamond drill testing of favorable coincident ground IP and magnetic targets located in the north east part of the Property. The Property is comprised of 20 mining claims representing 294 claim units covering approximately 4,704 hectares and is located 10 kilometres east of the town of Chapleau in Northeastern Ontario and two kilometres south of Probe's Borden Lake gold discovery.

The exploration program will comprise approximately 1,500 metres of drilling and test up to 10 priority targets identified from the geophysical survey. The program represents the first drilling ever to be undertaken on this Property. The drill targets were selected from a larger group of anomalies, based on character and strength, and will test a significant section of the stratigraphy to the south of Probe's Borden Lake gold discovery. Surface prospecting suggests that the Property shares many geological similarities to the area hosting Probe's Borden Lake gold zone, and therefore has potential to host similar gold mineralization. Results from the current program will be used to develop further exploration programs on the inform and explain what they intended? Is this responsible? Could Council, after careful review, not devise a plan, a multi-year plan, to upgrade the museum and its contents, perhaps in partnership with town organizations, businesses and citizens? This plan would prioritize the needs and complete them over a reasonable timeframe. Or Council could establish a flat sum, based on average expenses over the last few years. Other needed monies would come from other sources (fundraising, donations, memberships, etc). This is fiscally responsible. Council's motto would change to, "Don't remove, just improve!"

Our study group meeting was largely consumed by this issue. We will continue to function even if we don't have a home. The purpose of the study group is to improve the museum, to secure a larger reserve of artifacts, and to present Chapleau's history throughout the community. None of these goals is changed by Council's decision. We already have access to two heated buildings to store photos and artifacts. Group members are determined to continue planning and fact finding. We will apply for incorporated, not-for-profit status, which makes us eligible for provincial grants and other monies. Those engaged in historical research will continue and we have begun to organize several exhibits in the coming year.

The museum study group came together to find ways to better present this town and its history, to include all those who walked these streets, and we will tell their story.

TRIBUNE LIBRE

Plusieurs des locataires de Cedar Grove désirent exprimer leur grande déception vis-à-vis des nouvelles heures du coin café Entre Amis situé dans l'entrée de Cedar Grove. Depuis le 26 mars 2012, le coin café n'est ouvert que les matins.

Premièrement, les aînés de Cedar Grove étaient très choqués lorsqu'ils ont appris qu'ils perdaient leur hall d'entrée pour faire place au coin café. Par contre, ils se sont réconciliés à l'idée en sachant que le programme allait créer de l'emploi et développer des habiletés de travail chez les clients du programme tout en encourageant une conscience globale ainsi qu'une interaction sociale entre les gens de la communauté et les clients du programme de soutien à la vie autonome, tel que décrit dans le site Web des Services de santé de Chapleau www.ss.chs.ca sous la section des services de santé mentale pour adultes.

Est-ce que les clients du programme coin café furent consultés avant de couper les heures de leur programme?

Est-ce juste aux aînés de Cedar Grove et aux autres membres de la communauté qui ont encouragé le programme alors qu'ils aimaient se rencontrer l'après-midi pour un bon café et une importante interaction sociale?

Est-ce que la direction ne peut maintenir les heures du coin café à temps plein en embauchant un(e) étudiant(e) ou un(e) assistant(e)?

Nous espérons que les membres de la communauté exprimeront publiquement leur désaccord ou commenceront une pétition par rapport au point en question. Des lettres de soutien pourraient être adressées à la directrice des Services de santé de Chapleau, avec copie

Chapleau High School students exposed to new machines including 'push button phones' while on work experience program in 1972

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

Graduating students in the Chapleau High School Communications and Business Procedures class of 1972 were exposed to many different machines while on their work experience program at businesses in Chapleau and elsewhere.

According to an article in 'Ad Astra', the school yearbook, following a tradition, graduating students were placed in area offices for work experience. "The theory followed was that there was no better teacher than experience."

Organized by teachers Ora Way-White and Margaret Rose Fortin, while the majority were placed in Chapleau some worked in Kormak, Sheppard and Morse, Island Lake and even Wawa.

"While in their job situations, the students were exposed to many different machines, such as the postage meter, Xerox copier, Paymaster, Telex and the Addressograph, which they had not encountered previously," the article noted.

It added that several learned to operate "push button telephones" and to handle incoming and outgoing calls in a business-like manner.

However, the article did note that "the well known adding machines, the typewriter and the duplicator were in constant use". As I recall, the first computers arrived in CHS classrooms in the early 1980s, but Grade Nine students were still using manual computers, no electric ones for them, but that changed too of course.

The article added that as always co-operation from the business community was tremendous. With the introduction of the credit and semester system at CHS not all of the students were able to receive time off from the school to spend a full week in an office. The program was adapted to permit those students to work part-time at jobs until they had completed the necessary number of hours, and Mrs. Way-White and Mrs. Fortin were proud of what the students accomplished in spite of shortened hours.

At the end of the work experience program, the teachers met with employers for evaluation purposes.

"As always, co-operation from the business community ... was tremendous."

The article also noted: "Chapleau High School owes a debt of gratitude to the business community which has once again given the students this practical experience."

"The community support in the Chapleau area would undoubtedly be the envy of many a larger high school."

Forty years ago when these students were part of this work placement program, which in many ways was a pioneering project to get students out of the classroom, an addition had just been added to the school to meet the increased enrolment as the baby boomers arrived and new courses were introduced as well as the change to credit and semester system.

In sharing this article, I could not help but reflect on those years at CHS, which to me at least, who had started teaching there in 1969, were a time of great change. I had been a student at the old school on Pine Street, and there I was in this new place on the hill. That in itself, was revolutionary.

To this day, I recall heading there for my first day, walking over the old overhead bridge, and being picked up by Ovide Cote, who then was manager of Collins men's wear department. Mr. Cote was on his way to the school to speak to students in the Home Economics course taught by Marie Tremblay.

At that time, one of the highlights of the week was for teachers to have lunch prepared and served by Mrs. Tremblay's students giving them practical experience.

It was a time of great change in education, and the computer era was not even on the horizon in 1972.

Notice of Prescribed Burn

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) would like to inform the public that we will be carrying out the ignition of the low complexity prescribed burns in The Shoals Provincial Park, located 48 kilometres west of the town of Chapleau along Highway 101. The public was invited to comment on these prescribed burns in August of 2010 as part of our requirements under the Class Environment Assessment for a Category 'B' project.

The Shoals Provincial Park is located in the Boreal Forest, a fire-dependent ecosystem that requires periodic natural fire disturbance to maintain and regenerate native species. Prescribed burning presents an opportunity to help naturally restore some of the native Red Pine and White Pine forest stands. Additional benefits from these proposed burns include reducing the future wildfire risk in the Park's development area. Removing years of vegetation growth (a fire hazard) will increase visitor and staff safety, protecting infrastructure and values at risk by preventing future fire starts and potential for uncontrollable fire spread. Mitigative actions to ensure a safe, controlled burn have been addressed in a Low Complexity Prescribed Burn Plan developed and delivered in compliance with the MNR's Prescribed Burn Operations Policy and Prescribed Burn Manual.

The burn is scheduled for ignition between April 23, 2012 and May 19, 2012.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND HEARING FOR AN ELECTRICITY DISTRIBUTION RATE CHANGE
Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation

Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation has applied to the Ontario Energy Board for permission to increase its delivery charges beginning May 1, 2012. The application was filed on January 30, 2012 under section 78 of the Ontario Energy Board Act, 1998, S.O. 1998, c.15 (Schedule B). Further to a letter from the Board issued on February 8, 2012, Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation filed additional information on March 16, 2012.

Delivery charges are one of four regular items on Residential and General Service customers' electric bills and vary depending on the amount of electricity consumed. The proposed changes to the Delivery charges are separate from other potential changes to the electricity bills, which are not affected by this application. If the application is fully approved as applied for, the monthly bill for a Residential customer who consumes 800 kWh per month will increase by about $6.96. The monthly bill for a General Service customer consuming 2,000 kWh per month and having a monthly demand of less than 50 kW would increase by about $10.46

For additional information on billing items visit the Consumer page of the Board's website at <http://www.ontarioenergyboard.ca/OEB/Consumers/Electricity/Your+Electricity+Bill>.

The Board has assigned the application File No. EB-2011-0322. The Board's decision on this application may have an effect on all of Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation's customers.

AVIS DE REQUÊTE ET D'AUDIENCE CONCERNANT UNE MODIFICATION DU TARIF DE DISTRIBUTION DE L'ÉLECTRICITÉ
de Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation

Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation a présenté une requête à la Commission de l'énergie de l'Ontario pour obtenir la permission d'augmenter ses frais de livraison à compter du 1er mai 2012. La requête a été déposée le 30 janvier 2012 aux termes de l'article 78 de la Loi de 1998 sur la Commission de l'énergie de l'Ontario, L.O. 1998, ch. 15 (annexe B). Comme suite à une lettre de la Commission datée du 8 février 2012, Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation a fourni des données additionnelles le 16 mars 2012.

Les frais de livraison sont l'un des quatre articles qui figurent systématiquement aux factures d'électricité des consommateurs résidentiels et de services généraux et qui varient en fonction de la quantité d'électricité consommée. Les modifications proposées aux frais de livraison sont distinctes des autres modifications possibles aux factures d'électricité, lesquelles ne sont pas touchées par la présente requête. Si la requête est entièrement approuvée, la facture mensuelle d'un consommateur résidentiel qui utilise 800 kWh par mois augmenterait d'environ 6,96 $. La facture mensuelle d'un consommateur de services généraux utilisant 2000 kWh par mois et dont la demande mensuelle est inférieure à 50 kW augmenterait d'environ 10,46$.

Pour de plus amples renseignements sur les éléments de votre facture, consultez la page Web http://www.ontarioenergyboard.ca/OEB/Consumers/Electricity/Your+Electricity+Bill/Your+Electricity+Bill\_fr#.

La Commission a assigné à cette requête le numéro EB-2011-0322. La décision de la Commission concernant cette requête peut avoir un effet sur tous les clients de Chapleau Public Utilities Corporation.

A single-family home built in one day at half the price of a conventional house -- and strong enough to withstand hurricanes and earthquakes

Imagine a home that can be built in a single day by a crew of just five workers using no special tools or heavy equipment - and is so strong that it can withstand an earthquake or hurricane. It's been just a dream for governments seeking affordable housing that can be erected quickly and economically, but it will become a reality when Innovative Composites International opens a one-of-a-kind manufacturing plant in Orangeburg, South Carolina on April 19, 2012. "We're not just claiming that this is the fastest way to assemble an affordable and durable home, we are actually going to prove it by having a crew of five workers assemble a 559-square-foot home on the day of the plant opening," says Terry Ball, ICI's Chief Executive Officer. "They will start at about 2:45 pm and I expect they will be finished before dark. They won't need any special tools or training, and they won't need any heavy equipment, and the entire process will be on display from start to finish." Cont'd on P.12

by Carol Hughes

Federal member of Parliament
Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing

The brouhaha that flowed from the Auditor General's report on April 3rd can be called appropriate when one considers the history of this issue. The out-of-whack estimates for the costing of these fighter jets and the concentrated effort on the part of the, then minority, Conservative government to hide all information about the purchase from a parliamentary committee were among the reasons that the government was, historically, found in contempt of Parliament.

Conservatives have made much of their belief that the historic charge means little to those outside the "Ottawa bubble." They wish it were so, but the role of Parliament is the primary check and balance in our political system. At the top of the chain is the concept of ministerial responsi-

par
Carol Hughes

Membre du Parlement Fédéral
Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing

Le brouhaha qui a suivi la parution du rapport du vérificateur général le 3 avril peut être qualifié en étant approprié quand on se place dans le contexte du dilemme. Les estimations aberrantes du coût de ces avions de chasse et le fait que le gouvernement conservateur, alors minoritaire, se soit concerté pour cacher à un comité parlementaire tous les renseignements au sujet de cet achat; voilà certaines des raisons pour lesquelles le gouvernement a été, fait historique, reconnu coupable d'outrage au Parlement.

Les conservateurs ont beaucoup parlé du fait qu'ils croient que cette accusation historique évoque peu de chose pour les personnes « à l'extérieur d'Ottawa ». Si seulement c'était vrai ! Cependant, le rôle du Parlement est de contrôler les agissements de notre système politique. Au haut de la chaîne se trouve le concept de responsabilité ministérielle, quelque chose que nous ne voyons guère plus.

Le vérificateur général est un haut fonctionnaire du Parlement dont le rôle, établi en 1868, est de contrôler les dépenses du gouvernement. Il permet qu'une analyse véritable soit effectuée par un tiers parti pour faire contrepoids à la jungle politique d'un gouvernement et d'une opposition politique qui entoure le budget et les autres détails des dépenses.

Le rapport déposé en avril est accablant et révèle un si grand nombre d'affirmations que les conservateurs ont faites au sujet du processus d'achat et de l'estimation des coûts des F-35 qu'il rend mal au cœur. Les conservateurs ont certainement perdu à jamais leur prétention à être de bility – something we see little of anymore.

Auditor General Report shows F-35 procurement process flawed and Ministers barely engaged

The Auditor General is an Officer of Parliament whose role was established in 1868 to oversee government spending. The Auditor General offers third party analysis to offset the political jungle of government and opposition politics that surrounds budgets and other spending matters.

The report that dropped in April is damning and lays bare so many claims the Conservatives have made about the F-35 procurement process and cost estimates that it would make your head spin. Surely, lost forever is the claim that the Conservatives are good economic managers. A good economic manager would kick the tires on a plane that, at the time of signing – on, represented the single biggest federal government purchase in Canadian history - not these guys.

What is so shameful is how the Conservatives have painted those who questioned the F-35 deal as anything from uninformed to anti-military to unpatriotic. Turns out two of the most uninformed people in the entire process have been the last two Ministers of Defence who have left a fog of disinformation both in and outside of Parliament as they responded to critics voicing legitimate concerns. We have learned the costs are running out of control and the Ministers did not perform due diligence. Bad business sense and bad political judgment from the 'austerity' crowd.

The tail has wagged the dog and the Prime Minister is refusing to follow the checks and balances in our parliamentary system such as demanding a resignation or two. Again, and bluntly, the rules for parliament aren't nerdy, they are our primary protection against corruption and people assuming they can run Canada like a private kingdom.

Please recall the Conservatives won power from a scandal ridden string of Liberal governments with a promise to bring ethics and transparency to parliament. I suggest that the Conservatives have no recollection of this promise or inaccurate definitions of both words.

Le rapport du vérificateur général démontre que le programme d'achat des F-35 présente des lacunes et que les ministres se sont à peine engagés bons gestionnaires de l'économie. Un bon gestionnaire donnerait des coups de pied dans les pneus de cet avion qui, au moment de la signature, représentait le plus important achat du gouvernement fédéral de l'histoire du Canada, mais ces gens-là ne l'ont pas fait.

Le plus honteux, c'est la façon dont les conservateurs ont dépeint ceux qui mettent en question l'achat des F-35, les qualifiant de personnes mal informées, antimilitaristes voir même antipatriotique. Il se trouve que deux des plus naïfs de tout le processus ont été les deux derniers ministres de la Défense. Ils ont laissés un brouillard de désinformation autant à l'intérieur qu'à l'extérieur du Parlement lorsqu'ils répondaient aux critiques basées sur des préoccupations légitimes. On sait que les coûts sont hors de contrôle et que les ministres n'ont pas fait preuve de responsabilité. Les partisans de « l'austérité » ont fait preuve d'un mauvais sens d'affaires et d'un mauvais jugement politique.

Le chien s'est fait frapper par sa queue. Le premier ministre refuse de respecter les contrepoids de notre système parlementaire et d'exiger une ou deux démissions. Les règles du Parlement ne sont pas un simple jeu d'échec, elle nous offre une protection indispensable contre la corruption et contre les gens qui présumant qu'ils peuvent diriger le Canada comme s'ils règnent un club privé.

Rappelez-vous que les conservateurs ont été opportunistes à la suite de gouvernements libéraux accablés par les scandales en promettant de rendre le Parlement plus éthique et plus transparent. Je crois que les conservateurs ne se souviennent pas de cette promesse ou définissent mal ces deux mots.

This Earth Day, put the green in your pocket – 10 tips from Hydro One

Everyone is trying to do what they can to save money. Whether it's changing your habits around your home or making changes to your home, there are many things you can do to keep the green in your pocket this spring.

Here are 10 easy ways to save energy and money around your home this spring.

1. Sign up for peak saver PLUS and we'll provide and install a programmable thermostat valued at $250 in your home at no charge. You can program it from home or anywhere you have internet access. Depending on how you program your thermostat, you could save up to 10% on your year-round heating and cooling costs.

2. Retire that old fridge or freezer as it could be a real energy hog. We'll pick it up free of charge and recycle it in an environmentally-friendly way just by contacting us at www.hydroone.com/fri dgepickup or 1-877-797-9473. When buying new appliances make the move to an ENERGY STAR rated appliance and remember to review the EnerGuide label to see how much energy the appliance will use.

3. Think it's going to be a hot summer? Start thinking about replacing your home's central air conditioner and you could qualify for a cash incentive if you purchase and install a qualifying ENERGY STAR central cooling system from a participating contractor. Visit www.hydroone.com/heatingandcooling for more information.

4. Electric water heaters can cause electricity use to spike as they refill and heat water. Reduce the amount of hot water you use during peak periods, and you'll also reduce the amount of electricity consumed during these times.

5. Doing your laundry with cold water can help reduce your hot water use by 25 per cent. If shopping for a new washing machine, consider a front-loading unit that is more energy efficient. Using a clothesline to dry clothes will save the considerable energy which a clothes dryer consumes.

6. Looking for additional ways to reduce your hot water use? Installing an energy-efficient shower head can cut your hot water consumption by up to 30 per cent and it won't affect the water's flow.

7. If part of spring cleaning means cleaning your oven, strike while the oven is still hot! Turn on the oven's self-cleaning function after dinner to reduce the need to heat the oven when you aren't using it. Do it after 7p.m. to take advantage of Off-peak Time-of-Use pricing.

8. If the ups and downs of spring temperatures have you adjusting your heating all the time, try trapping the warm air inside during a sunny day by opening drapes and closing them in the evening.

9. As the days get longer, remember to adjust your outdoor light timer so you aren't using energy when you don't need to.

10. The next time a light bulb burns out, replace it with a CFL or LED bulb. While the initial cost of the bulb itself is a little more, the savings it will provide will be a benefit for years to come. Also, remember to dust your light bulbs. Dirt on the surface of a bulb can absorb up to half of the light and ruin the reflection factor.

Customers can get more information on the programs mentioned above along with additional energy savings tips by visiting [www.Hydro One.com/SaveEnergy](http://www.Hydro One.com/SaveEnergy).

A single-family home built in one day at half the price of a conventional house -- and strong enough to withstand hurricanes and earthquakes

"Some competing technologies can withstand high winds, but not an earthquake," notes Mr. Ball. "Our technology does both and it does it at less than half the price of a typical conventionally built home (about $120/sq. foot). There's nothing like it anywhere in the world, which is why we believe that this home building system will soon be used around the world."

Located on a 34-acre site about 60 miles from Charleston, the 126,000 square-foot manufacturing plant will have the capacity to produce up to 5,000 homes a year. "South Carolina is a pro-business state, and we celebrate ICI's decision to invest here and create 300 new jobs," says South Carolina

Governor Nikki Haley. "This is another win for one of our rural areas."

The unmatched durability of ICI's new housing system is achieved by constructing the homes with easy-to-assemble, fibre-reinforced Structure Lite panels coated with ICI's RmorSkin a breakthrough protective material engineered to resist high impacts. The panels, constructed entirely with recyclable materials, are also designed to be moisture resistant, mold and mildew resistant, insect resistant, impact resistant and UV resistant.

The most likely buyers will be governments seeking affordable and durable housing. They can choose from three basic models: The Cabin, a 512-square-foot, 2-bedroom modular home; The Bungalow, an 880-square-foot structure with three bedrooms, a living room, kitchen, 4-piece bath and storage area; and The Lodge, a 1500-square-foot home with three large bedrooms, two 4-piece baths, kitchen, living room, dining room and large front porch. "There is virtually unlimited demand for affordable housing and we intend to be the industry leader in that market," says Mr. Ball.

The company also produces shelters that are designed to facilitate quick delivery and assembly, a performance advantage that makes them ideal in a wide variety of temporary or permanent applications, including emergency relief sites, mining camps and remote villages. The shelters, available in two configurations (8' x 16' or 8' x 20' configurations), are made of the same durable base materials as the houses. They are shipped flat, in kits, which increases the shipping density and reduces the cost of delivery. Assembly can be completed in hours by a small crew of workers using no special tools or heavy equipment. "This solution is as easy to ship and assemble as a tent, but it offers the safety and shelter that is associated with a permanent building," explains Mr. Ball. "We expect huge demand because there is really nothing like it any in the world."

Innovative

Composites Inc., a leader in composite design and manufacturing, has a head office in Toronto, Ontario and manufacturing facilities in Orangeburg, South Carolina and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

Help Us Plan a Party

This is an open invitation to anyone interested in helping plan the 5th Annual Cancer Survivor Celebration held annually at the Relay for Life.

This important get-together allows anyone undergoing cancer treatment and their family to get encouragement and support during a relaxed and fun supper, by spending a bit of time with recent and long-time survivors and other caregivers. The light meal also allows survivors and their families to celebrate the path of their fight against cancer and personal successes. The Survivor Celebration is held at 5:30, and ends in time for the Survivor Victory Lap, which marks the start of the Relay.

If you aren't interested in the planning but would be happy to help on Friday, June 15th, the day of the event, we can use your help too!

Anyone wishing to lend a helping hand, either before, during or after the event, is asked to attend a short meeting at Cedar Grove conference room (main floor) at 7:30 on Wednesday April 25th, or to call Joanne at 864-0724. See you there!
