Inaugural address sets tone for next four years

Mayor Freeborn giving his inaugural address after being sworn in.

By Jim Prince

Jobs, economic development and hard work were on the minds of the newly elected Mayor and Chapleau Township Council, as they were sworn in during ceremonies last Monday. And if the council members act on the list of priorities laid out by Mayor Earle J. Freeborn they will be a busy and hard working crew. The local council made history along with all others in the province as it's the first time in Ontario councils were elected to the four year term, which is favoured by many to facilitate long term planning.

The inaugural meeting heard a call for 100 new jobs and a renewed vision for community and economic development by Mayor Earle Freeborn, shortly after he was sworn into office.

"The election is over and now it is time for the new Council to get down to business and I am looking forward to working with Council to do just that. For the first time we will have a four year window of opportunity to fulfill our mandate and move this community forward."

There was strong support for the idea of getting down to business from the four men just as they were sworn in.

"I will participate in this community and do as much as I can," pledged councilor André Byham, who led the polls in voting for the council and is expected to be the new deputy Mayor.

"The last 9 years have been rewarding," stated councilor K.J. "Bud" Swanson, and looking ahead to the next four-year term added, "I'm going to be busy."

The two newcomers to the council, Doug Creig and Jacques Tremblay echoed this view.

Describing Mayor Freeborn's inaugural address as progressive, councilor Creig said council better get on to working and stop talking.

Councilor Tremblay also called for hard work and said he was looking forward to working with Mayor and council for the next four year. "I'm young and dedicated and will work hard," he stated.

This led emcee for the ceremonies Remi Bazinet, to exclaim: "We've got a good working crew here."

Much of the hard work councilors referred to would be a result of the initiatives contained in Mayor Freeborn's inaugural address.

Prior to laying out a list of nine initiatives the Mayor told council the challenges they face are many and varied. He pledged however, to provide the leadership required to address these ongoing issues throughout the council term. "That being said it is also my intention to seek full council support for a number of initiatives that I believe will set our community on a course of progressive recovery and sustainable growth.

The initiatives for which the Mayor will seek consensus from Council are: The creation of 100 new full-time permanent jobs in the next four years, an update of the Community Strategic Plan, a full review by Council of the status of all current economic development projects, a renewed vision for community and economic development for Chapleau.

The Mayor also called for establishment of a Youth Committee as a committee of Council. He also wants council to play an active role in the ongoing efforts of Doctor recruitment and retention.

In the next term of office the municipality would see the incorporation of the Master Heritage Museum Plan.

Mayor Freeborn wants a definitive Downtown Beautification Plan and commitment to do it. And he has called for the elimination of downtown parking meters.

Also on the mayor's agenda is the extension of the community communal water line to West End residential taxpayers.

"I realize that this is an aggressive agenda and at the same time I welcome projects from individual Councilors as well," stated the Mayor adding: "citizens have the right to have access to their Mayor and Council and I am committed to continuing my past open door policy for any citizens needing assistance during the upcoming term of office. I look forward with great anticipation to a productive four years for the Town of Chapleau and I believe we have the right team in place to accomplish our goals."

Brown applauds decision to reduce fees for after-hours use of schools

Youth And Community Groups In Conseil scolaire de district catholique du Nouvel-Ontario to Benefit

ALGOMA - MANITOULIN Mike Brown, MPP for Algoma-Manitoulin welcomes the decision by the province to invest $88,436 in annual funding to help Conseil scolaire de district catholique du Nouvel-Ontario reduce or eliminate the fees youth and community groups pay to use Ontario's schools after hours.

The investment will be applied to the annual funding for the board through its school operating grants. Additionally, school boards are helping community groups access school facilities more easily by providing application forms, rate schedules and contact information online. The Ministry of Education will also help with access by putting links to school board information on its website.

"By making school space more affordable and accessible, we are supporting healthy, active lifestyles and helping to build vital communities that offer Ontarians a higher quality of life," said Minister of Health Promotion Jim Watson.

"Schools are important hubs in our communities. They are places where we can gather to learn, grow and play," said Minister of Education Kathleen Wynne.

"Our community use of schools program is helping to ensure that our schools remain accessible and affordable to our communities."

CHS Tree of Lights

Suzanne Lafrenière accompanied by William Petrosky lights up the Tree of Lights.

On Monday, December 4, 2006, a group of students, staff, and community members watched as President of CHS Students Council, William Petrosky, Mrs. Suzanne Lafreniere, a proud mother of a member of the Canadian Armed Forces, lit the Tree of Lights at Chapleau High School.

Mrs. N. Schuurman presented a brief explanation of the tree and its history, thanked Chapleau PUC for checking and replacing the lights, Mr. D. McEachren for his help, and the public for its support and generosity in making this a successful event each year. This tree represents a bond of unity between CHS staff and students and the community of Chapleau. With some of our former students such as Joel Lafreniere and Dan MacDonald presently in the Canadian Armed Forces in Afghanistan and others serving our country in other areas of the world, the Students' Council decided to dedicate this year's tree to honour and support our Canadian troops.

Proceeds from the sale of the bulbs in memory or in honour of our loved ones will go towards filling goodie bags for our troops and the people in Afghanistan. Address labels are available at the C.H.S office for those who wish to send cards our local boys serving overseas..

Mrs. N. Schuurman presented a brief explanation of the tree and its history.

Bulbs may be purchased from Students' Council members or by calling Chapleau High School at 864-1452. A thank you is also extended to the Chapleau Express for its support in publishing a list of donor's names at a later date. Chapleau High School wishes to extend the best of the season to all Chapleau residents.

Enjoy the lights at the top of the hill!

Hydro consumers pay price for credit card waste

NDP Leader Howard Hampton says hydro consumers are getting zapped by the dubious spending practices of hydro executives.

"For most of us, Christmas comes once a year. For hydro executives, with all the credit card abuses going on, apparently it's Christmas every day," Hampton said.

"Hydro consumers deserve better," the NDP Leader said.

Today's auditor general report documents widespread credit card irregularities at Hydro One and Ontario Power Generation.

At Hydro One, staff purchased $127 million worth of goods and services using corporate charge cards but provided few credit card slips or documentation to justify the charges.

At Ontario Power Generation, the auditor was "unable to verify the existence and whereabouts" of printers, monitors, fax machines and digital cameras purchased with company credit cards - and "OPG could not provide evidence that they were in its possession."

"Ontarians

work hard to pay the hydro bill. They expect hydro executives to respect that trust. After all the price hikes and all the hydro-related job loss, the McGuinty government owes it to working families to get to the bottom of what's happening and do something to stop it," Hampton said.

Trinity United Church welcomes new Minister

Since May, Trinity United has been without a minister at our helm. We are very grateful for the help we received from Rev, Wm. Ivey, Rev. Erin Todd, from Wawa, (who came and served communion on several occasions), as well as the people from our own congregation who took turns at doing the services. Attendance has dropped, but we never gave up working to obtain a minister. All the work has paid off, and we will once again have consistent leadership.

Starting Dec. 10th, Anna Chikoski, a Lay Pastoral Minister in Training, will be joining our church on a part-time basis. Anna lives in Sault Ste. Marie with her family, but will be coming to Chapleau for 2 weeks each month. She will be living at the manse when here.

The Sunday School will lead the White Gift Service on Dec. 10th, and this will be followed by a congregational Christmas Dinner. On Dec. 17th, there will be a regular 11:00 a.m. service, as well as the "Christmas at the Stable" service from 7:00 p.m. with as many worshippers. Remember, this service is open to the public. Come out and worship as of olde.

Dec. 24th will have a regular 11:00 a.m. service and an 8:00 p.m. Christmas Eve Service of readings and carols. (Please note the time.) The latter will be conducted by Wilma Schmidt. Anna will be with us again for the January 7th, 14th and 21st services

Our prayers have been answered - we have our Christmas

Miracle! Now, let's all get behind Anna and give her a warm welcome and show our support with regular attendance at church.
