Proposal would continue efforts on tourism and Crown Game Preserve

By Jim Prince
 The Chapleau Regional Development Corporation (CRDC) says it is ready to continue working on developing Chapleau Crown Game Preserve and growing the local tourist industry.

The decision was announced at a Township Council meeting last Monday evening and comes on the heels of the decision by the Council to create a new organization, Chapleau Economic Renewal Committee (CERC) to assume the primary role in economic development and hire an Economic Development Officer.

"I am very pleased that you are continuing," stated Mayor Earle Freeborn at the conclusion of a detailed presentation by the CRDC. Mayor Earle Freeborn said Monday the new Economic Renewal Committee, which includes all of council, and three members from the community at large as well as resource persons, will be ready by February 1.

In stating its intention to continue efforts, now concentrated on the Chapleau Crown Game Preserve and Tourism development, the CRDC requested approximately seventy-five thousand dollars in funding for this year. That request will go before the new Economic Renewal Committee, following the procedure laid out in an organizational chart attached to the by-law creating the new economic renewal committee. Mayor Freeborn suggested the CRDC appoint a three-person delegation to make its presentation.

"The CRDC is continuing, we are not closing down the doors," stated the Corporation's vice chair, Michel Sylvestre in his opening remarks to a twenty minute powerpoint presentation to the municipal council detailing work the CRDC has done in connection to the Game Preserve and tourism development.

In a partnership between it and the Township of Chapleau which started in 2004, the CRDC was able to secure approximately $400,000 in funding from the federal government's FedNor program and the province's NOHFC program for its Crown Game Preserve project. The Township of Chapleau also funded $115,000 and added approximately $90,000 towards an Economic Development Officer and administration costs.

In total, over $530,000 was put into phase one of the Game Preserve project. "In only a year after the project was launched, we have seen genuine results from our efforts with hundreds of inquiries, visitors and increased interest in the Chapleau Crown Game Preserve," stated Sylvestre in his presentation. The project has erected 4 wildlife-viewing stations with an MNR approved strategy for attracting wildlife to them. It also maintains four picnic sites with bear-proof garbage cans and picnic tables, interpretive signs and trails.

The CRDC has also erected 5 large roadside signs at key locations in the province and the gateway sign is in place. A brochure and map promoting the Game Preserve have been produced and distributed to various tourist centers

And in a move to cash in on "Geocaching" which Sylvestre described as "the most rapidly growing outdoors recreational activity in the world," the Game Preserve is now the location of 10 of the devices.

In addition to membership in several regional tourist associations, the CRDC has experienced success in persuading local businesses to join in co-operative marketing ventures.

The Town of Chapleau, through its various committee, boards and councils over the years, has strived to establish itself as the Gateway to the World's Largest Crown Game Preserve. It has been part of the Strategic Plan and one of our goals in tourism. The Township of Chapleau and the CRDC have finally done just that.

"With the uncertain future of the forest industry, Chapleau must start depending more on tourism," concludes the CRDC proposal for funding.

Containers for Afghanistan

CHS Students' Council members and Mrs. C. Boucher spent a lunch hour packing the first set of plastic containers for Canadian troops in Afghanistan. Thanks to a very successful

Tree of Lights, we were able to fill forty-eight containers with candies, gum, pencils, and other goodies along with a recent copy of the Chapleau Express.

Toothbrushes and toothpaste for the troops were also added, important items that are not readily available when on deployment as we learned from Joel

Lafreniere on a visit to the school shortly before Christmas when he stated that he had had to go for six weeks without a toothbrush! Warm socks and a brief letter written by students in the school followed by the lid

Introducing the Chapleau Rescue Ring

The Chapleau Rescue Ring (CRR) is a small local pet rescue organization that is feverishly attempting to stop the shooting to death of pets in Ontario. The municipality of Chapleau has for the past number of years instituted a policy where they house stray cats and dogs in the pound for 3 business days. After this time the lost, homeless pet is driven out to the municipal dump where they are shot to death and disposed of. The CRR works via an agreement with the municipality of Chapleau, where they contact the CRR before the kill date so that foster care can be arranged for the pet. The cat/dog is then taken into care and evaluated to be either adoptable or unadoptable, and if adoptable a loving forever home is searched for. If a home can not be found that is deemed appropriate, or the animal is unadoptable volunteers are used to transport the pet to a Humane Society where either adoption or humane euthanization (via injection or gas) is performed.

A letter was submitted to Mayor Freeborn and council in December requesting they revisit their present stray pet disposal method. The letter pointed out to the town that the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (OSPCA) deemed shooting to death an inhumane method of euthanization. The response received from the town stated that they adhere to the standards set by the Ministry of Agriculture, so regardless of OSPCA standards they will continue with their present method of killing.

As a founder of the CRR I realize we can not save all of the poor homeless cats and dogs from a human-imposed death. In consideration of this unfortunate reality, euthanization should be performed in a method that does not incite terror and/or pain, and be performed by the township in which the stray pet was found.

Please be a responsible pet owner and not only spay and neuter your pet(s), but keep them leashed for everyone's safety.

If you are a concerned citizen and would like to assist with foster care and/or volunteer transport please contact us through our website: <http://members.shaw.ca/ChapleauRescueRing>

We are always in need of assistance.

FOR ADOPTION

Magic (as we call him) was found wandering in downtown Chapleau. The owners did not claim him from the pound, so before he was put down we took him into the Chapleau Rescue Ring. His soft loving personality was obvious right away. He is wary of new people and situations, but adjusts quickly. Fosters had him wagging his tail by the end of his 2nd day. He was groomed and took it in stride. LOTS of wounds were apparent all over him, a few on his neck were obviously punctures, but all are healing well. Adoption fee for is quiet mature boy (who LOVES belly rubs) will be approx. $75 ($50 refunded after alteration). Please contact Andrea and Glenn at the CRR for an adoption application.

Mike Brown,
Provincial Member of Parliament
for Algoma-Manitoulin

National Non-Smoking Week is a Good Time to Quit

With National Non-Smoking Week upon us, it is a great chance for Ontarians to quit smoking or to support friends, family members and colleagues who are making the important decision to quit. Smoke-free is the wave of the future, and Ontario is on the crest of that wave.

Don't become a statistic, now more than ever I am encouraging you to quit smoking.

Here in Ontario, an astonishing 1.6 million people still smoke and 16,000 die each year from the effects of tobacco products.

Smoking kills and we should all do our part to kick the habit and encourage loved ones we know to quit smoking.

As a result, tobacco-related diseases cost the Ontario health care system at least $1.7 billion a year, result in more than $2.6 billion in productivity losses, and account for at least 500,000 hospital days each year.

The province cares about families, and is willing to take action to protect their health. The Smoke-Free Ontario Act is a strong example of that. So too is our $8.8 million investment in preventing youth from using tobacco products.

We have not done this alone. The local health unit has done an excellent job protecting the health of people in Algoma-Manitoulin by enforcing the Smoke-Free Ontario Act and encouraging people to quit smoking.

Ontario's tobacco consumption has fallen by 18.7 per cent or more than 2.6 billion cigarettes since 2003. It's hard to imagine 2.6 billion cigarettes, but if you can imagine them laid end-to-end, that is long enough to circle the equator almost five and a half times or reach more than half way to the moon.

Although great strides have been made with Smoke-Free Ontario, there is still more to do. That is why we will continue to work closely with our health partners to help smokers quit.

Ontarians can learn about the dangers of tobacco and get tips on how to quit smoking from January 22-26, which is National Non-Smoking Week in Canada. To kick off the week, the Canadian Cancer Society will launch the 2007 Driven to Quit Challenge, a province-wide challenge to help Ontario smokers quit smoking. One successful quitter will drive away with a 2007 Acura CSX (for more information on the contest, visit www.driventoquit.ca). Other events will continue throughout the week to help prevent tobacco use.

Addiction to nicotine is one of the toughest habits to break. However, there are many free resources available to help smokers quit including the Canadian Cancer Society's Smokers' Helpline. The helpline offers advice, information and support by phone at 1-877-513-5333 or online at www.smokershelpline.ca.

Light-weight Car Weighs in Heavy on Benefits

By Douglas Cariou
Need to lose some weight? So does your car.

And researchers at Natural Resources Canada (NRCan) believe magnesium will lighten the load.

A light-weight car means fuel savings for consumers and reduced carbon dioxide emissions for the planet. In fact, with every 10 percent of weight taken off a vehicle, fuel efficiency improves by five to eight percent.

Scientists at NRCan's CANMET Materials Technology Laboratory (CANMET-MTL) are working with the US Automotive Materials Partnership and the China Magnesium Center to study how magnesium can improve car design and efficiency.

The obvious environmental and economic benefits are what's fuelling the Magnesium Front End

Research and Development project. Magnesium is the lightest of all engineering metals. The use of magnesium can reduce the weight of the front end of a vehicle by 60 percent or 40 kilograms.

"Magnesium is 33-percent lighter than aluminium and 75-percent lighter than the steel used in conventional cars," says Dr. Jennifer Jackman, the Director at CANMET-MTL and Canada's representative on the project's Steering Committee. "But even though it's lighter, a redesigned front end will ensure that, in the event of an impact, passenger safety is not compromised in an accident."

"It has a high strength-to-weight ratio," she adds, which means that while it's light, it can perform as well as steel. "It's also recyclable," she says.

Normally, 55 percent of the car's weight is over the front axle and 45 percent over the rear axle. If you design the front end using the lighter magnesium, the weight evens out, which improves the drivability of the vehicle.

But how much of a dent will a car with a magnesium front end make in your wallet?

Dr. Kumar Sadayappan, a CANMET-MTL Research Scientist and the Canadian Leader of the project, has some good news.

"We're working toward developing a magnesium front-end structure that can be designed and manufactured at approximately the same cost as the current steel structure," he says.

This is great for consumers. And, since Canada is already the world's leading supplier of magnesium parts for automobiles, an increased demand for magnesium for automotive applications will also help Canadian companies remain competitive globally.

Among the Canadian companies involved in this five-year, US$22-million project are Magna International Inc., Meridian Technologies Inc. and Trimag Inc. The universities of Sherbrooke, McGill, Concordia, Ryerson, Waterloo, McMaster, Windsor and British Columbia, and American and Chinese institutions will also take part.

Through international partnerships and global dialogue, NRCan is once again playing an important role in encouraging the development of innovative technologies that can meet the economic and environmental demands for today and in the future.

Federal member of Parliament
Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing

DION: LIBERALS AIM TO STRENGTHEN ECONOMY AND ENVIRONMENT TOGETHER

Last week, Liberal leader Stéphane Dion made an historic speech at the Economic Club of Toronto. The speech was historic in that he spoke on an issue that has rarely been spoken about on Bay Street by a federal politician: the linking of environmental sustainability and economic prosperity.

Indeed, Mr. Dion said that "the vision we need is that of Canada standing first, on the podium of the new industrial revolution the sustainable economy. Canada has been a leader in each industrial revolution since the invention of the steam engine. We must not miss this new economic opportunity." He continued to say that "the fight for a sustainable economy if we exercise the right leadership." Mr. Dion is right. The job creation possibilities are endless. Companies producing energy efficiency technology will profit greatly as they sell their solutions to the world. These companies will be shielded from the inevitable rising cost of energy by their strong commitment to energy efficiency. Canadians will see higher earning incomes and a higher quality of life.

By investing in the development of new technology that can be sold worldwide and by investing in renewable energy sources that can be produced by Canadian farmers, jobs will be created and pollution will decrease, resulting in a heightened quality of life. With less pollution in our air and water, the number of people suffering from asthma will decrease. The number of people suffering from cancer will decrease. As a result, the number of people needing to see a doctor for a number of illnesses will decrease and hospital wait times as well as tax levels will decrease as well. Environmental policy is about fiscal responsibility, ensuring competitive tax regimes, and social and health policy.

Markets in fast growing energy consumers such as China and India will be looking to purchase energy efficient technologies as their economies and production capabilities grow at a record pace. Canada can be a leader by exporting its innovation and technology.

Canada cannot afford be left behind. The economic opportunities are too great to ignore. Tackling the environmental challenges of the 21st Century really is about jobs and prosperity.

Fish for free on family fishing weekend
Events On February 24-25 Will Promote Safety On Ice

The Ontario government and the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters are encouraging anyone looking for some winter fun to get outdoors and drop a line during the first winter Ontario Family Fishing Weekend, Natural Resources Minister David Ramsay said today.

"Many Ontarians enjoy winter fishing as a sport and social activity, and parents and others across the province can take this opportunity to introduce children and young adults to the fun of fishing," said Ramsay. "The winter family fishing weekend is a great time to learn from experienced anglers about fishing, safety and conservation." Canadian residents can fish licence-free in any public waters across Ontario on Saturday, February 24, and Sunday, February 25. Events offering free instruction on ice fishing and safety on ice will be held where ice conditions permit safe fishing opportunities mostly in Northern Ontario.

Through a new partnership arrangement with the ministry, the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH) will be taking on more responsibility for organizing Ontario Family Fishing weekends.

"Ontario Family Fishing Weekend is the province's flagship outdoors event that works to promote recreational fishing. The original concept for Ontario Family Fishing Weekend was presented by the OFAH and we are pleased that the Ministry of Natural Resources has increased opportunities to participate in this outstanding program," said OFAH President John Ford. "Ice fishing is good family fun, and the OFAH is proud to expand our partnership with the ministry and the outdoor industry to help introduce the new winter edition of Ontario Family Fishing Weekend." During the family fishing weekend, anglers must follow the conservation licence limits set out in the 2005-2006 Recreational Fishing Regulations Summary, which is in effect until future notice. Information on these limits will be available at each participating site.

"Taking part in outdoor activities such as fishing raises people's awareness of the environment," said Ramsay. "We look forward to working with the federation in the future on more fishing events to promote a conservation-based approach to recreational fishing."

For more information on the Ontario Family Fishing Weekend, or if your organization would like to host an event, visit www.familyfishingweekend.com.

Donations provide more than gifts at Chapleau Public School

The staff of Chapleau Public School asked parents and guardians to make donations toward the purchase of World Vision Gifts for those in need, rather than purchase gifts for staff at Christmas 2006.

The response of parents and guardians was very generous and appreciated. The Staff are pleased to announce the following gifts purchased through World Vision.

Feed 60 hungry children for 30 days with nutritious, vitamin-rich food.

Supply 2 classrooms with texts, note books, rulers, pencils and paper for 1 year.

Immunize a community of children for diphtheria, whooping cough, measles, polio, tetanus and tuberculosis.

Purchase

warm clothing for 50 children in countries like Armenia & Romania.

Purchase 2 hens and a rooster that will yield up to 150 eggs per year for a family.

What a wonderful opportunity for parents and staff to share a little joy with others less fortunate than we are.

Brown welcomes funding for parent involvement

Conseil scolaire de district catholique du Nouvel-Ontario to Receive $22,622

ALGOMA-MANITOULIN Mike Brown, MPP for Algoma-Manitoulin, applauded the province's announcement of funding to be invested in parent involvement projects in the Conseil scolaire de district catholique du Nouvel-Ontario.

"Parents put a lot of time, energy and creativity into these applications," said Mr. Brown. "I am pleased that the province has seen the value in projects intended to encourage more parents to become involved in their children's education."

Conseil scolaire de district catholique du Nouvel-Ontario will receive $22,622 for projects that will help to create a more welcoming environment for parents who face barriers to becoming involved in their children's education or school.

"Parents play a vital role in their children's education,"

Mr. Brown noted. "It's important for us to work with them to make it easier for more parents to get involved."

Notice of Opportunity to Inspect Draft Environmental Study Report

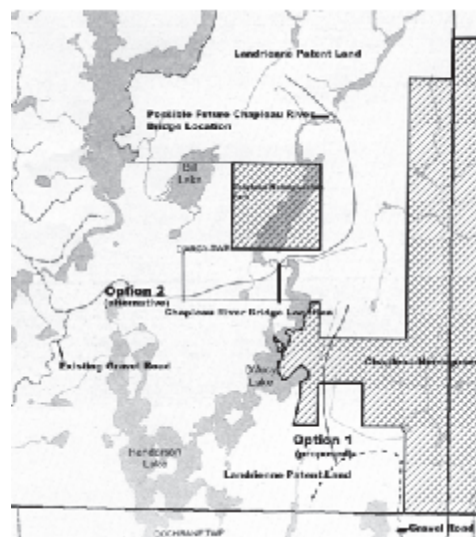

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) Ontario Parks invites public comment on an a draft environmental study report (ESR) for a proposal to undertake the construction of a private forest access road through P-1546 addition to Chapleau-Nemegosenda Provincial Park to access wood resources on private land. Private forest company Scierie Landrienne Inc.'s preferred option is to build a 820-meter all weather gravel road in D'Arcy Township. The road will be used solely for access to perform forest management activities on private land over the next 20 years. To prevent unauthorized access gates and/or berms, and/or signs will be used to control vehicular traffic. In accordance with the Class Environmental Assessment for Provincial Parks and Conservation Reserves the draft ESR was prepared which describes the process for the selection of the preferred option and the alternatives with an evaluation of the environmental effects for both. The alternate route, requires access across, private land, crown land and the construction of a permanent bridge on the Chapleau River in D'Arcy Township north of D'Arcy Lake.

Public consultations have occurred in April and August 2006 to obtain public response to these road options. Consequently, these proposals have been evaluated for their potential effects in accordance with the Class Environmental Assessment for Provincial Parks and Conservation Reserves Class C projects. The draft ESR is complete and available for public review. Comments must be received within the 30-day comment period, which expires on February 28, 2007.
