Chapleau going wireless October 2005

By Shelley Martel

On July 14th, 2005 Bell Canada and Nortel, leaders in telecommunications, in conjunction with the Township of Chapleau, launched Project Chapleau, which will research the impact of advanced technology on rural and dispersed communities. The announcement took place at Chapleau High School Cafetorium during a luncheon for approximately 60 guests and speakers.

Deployment of broadband access and applications in the community is expected to stimulate economic growth, social development, health and education.

For example, new online tourism programs will help attract new visitors and businesses. Access to new telemedicine will help Chapleau's network of health professionals improve quality care. Broadband e-learning services will provide new and exciting opportunities for both students and teachers in local schools.

"This is the beginning of a transition from relying on our own resources to competing with other communities throughout the world," stated Mayor Earle Freeborn.

For a community which has relied on the railway for part of its economic stability, this project will offer a sort of "transportation system that travels at the speed of light," Lawson Hunter said, executive vice-president and chief corporate officer, BCE and Bell Canada.

"This is a partnership that will deliver real solutions to the challenges facing rural and remote communities in today's technology driven economy," said Lawson Hunter.

The two companies will help Chapleau bridge the digital divide, connect and ultimately compete with other communities worldwide.

"Broadband is vital to the renewal and regeneration of communities like Chapleau," said Brian McFadden, chief Mayor Earle Freeborn with the "Project Chapleau" t-shirt which has the website address on the back.

research officer, Nortel. "Broadband service is expected to be the foundation for Chapleau to grow economically and culturally, giving local businesses access to new markets and services, enabling better educational opportunities for citizens, and encouraging people to stay within the community.

Connecting people throughout the world, regardless of location, results in previously unavailable new resources and Nortel is proud to work with the people of Chapleau and Bell Canada to help create sustainable communities in this way."

Mr. McFadden also presented the idea that, although Chapleau is the Gateway to the Largest Game Preserve in the World, that it can also be "a new kind of gateway to information technologies." He also reminded everyone that "Canada is based on communities like ours." The new technology is not a prototype and is Canadian made.

Director of Education for the Algoma District School Board, Mario Turco explained, "We are excited that we can offer the students of Chapleau this kind of learning. Students will be the ultimate beneficiary."

Bell and Nortel have created a Project Chapleau Web site to provide the public with information. Please visit www.projectchapleau.sl.ca

Noted Canadian visual artist to exhibit at Nature Festival

By Jim Prince

Besides attracting some of Canada's best known musical entertainers, the Chapleau Nature Festival has been a platform for visual artists both from the local scene and internationally.

One of Canada's best known artists, Ken Danby, thrilled local audiences during the Festival's initial year, while the internationally acclaimed Gisèle Benoit was in the spotlight the following year.

When the idea of a Nature Festival for Chapleau evolved, one of its goals was to promote the Crown Game Preserve and what it meant to this community, and the featured artist for this year portrays the local heritage.

Bradley "Dreamwalker" MacDonald spent his early years in North Bay and only recently returned to reside there after living much of intervening years in California where he learned to enrich his art.

MacDonald's work is part of the permanent collections of the Vancouver Museum, Los Angeles' Southwest Museum where Brad is also a lifetime mentor artist, and in San Diego's Heritage of the Americas museum. He is currently exhibited at the Learning Club Gallery in the Toronto area and the Four Winds Kiva Gallery in San Diego.

His public installations include 3 life-size stone sculptures commissioned to Honor the Elders at the Viejas Tribal Center, and paintings that grace the Southern California Indian Center, the Indian Health Council and The Justice Center in San Diego, an innovative initiative that gathers all areas of financial, legal, and social assistance to abused women and children under one roof.

In addition to fine arts, Brad is a performance storyteller and has served as a co-producer of the International Children's Day Parade with actor Danny Kaye for the 1986 World Exposition in Vancouver, BC, where they were honored to receive the endorsement of the United Nations.

He has worked as a Project Consultant for the BC Film and Video Commission for the series "Five Hundred Nations", a film of Project Canada and Warner Studios featuring Kevin Costner and Gregory Harrison, and a Project Designer for the Vancouver Museum's project "The Storyteller".

MacDonald will be appearing in person at the exhibition of his work at the Louis Hémon Cultural Centre throughout the Festival.

Only a few passes available - Meanwhile, sales of passes for the Nature Festival continue at a brisk pace. Late last week, officials reported fewer than 300 of them were still available for the Festival which runs from July 21-24.

The Festival, which is in its 4th year will feature another solid program of Canadian stars as headliners.

They include Kaylan Porter, the Canadian Idol, the Jeff Healey Band, and the popular French Canadian group La Bottine Souriante.

Chapleau Lodge is a true diamond in the rough

By Shelley Martel

For one of the rare fine dining experiences available to us in this small community, one would not expect to venture out into the wilderness to a fishing lodge, but that's exactly what adds to the charm of this unique dining opportunity.

Chapleau Lodge Resort on Borden Lake is a resort which caters mainly to Americans who come up to our neck of the woods to fish and/or relax.

The over 50 year old building is owned and operated by Bob and Sally Landry who return to the north from Belleville every spring. The couple, who are former residents of Chapleau, have been hosting guests of the lodge for 30 years this year.

As well as an all-inclusive plan, which is specifically for their resort guests, the dining room is available for dinner, by reservation only, to the general public.

To those who wish to enjoy a scenic 15 km ride to Devon, the destination will transform any visitor to days gone by. The well-maintained lodge's welcoming exterior has retained its original charm and relaxed fishing lodge style.

Inside, the large octagon/gazebo shaped lounge area, complete with fireplace, comfortable seating and many impressive fishing trophies, diners are met with a friendly greeting and escorted into the familiar atmosphere of the dining room.

In continuation of the determined link to the past, eclectic décor and artwork surround the room as upbeat jazz music winds through the high wood beam ceiling.

The unexpected surprise here is that the service and fare are in complete contrast to this laid back fishing lodge.

An elegant menu with a choice of appetizers, 3 appealing entrée choices, and a variety of interesting desserts is a preview of how the experience proves to impress any diner.

The tasty meals are presented with intentional flare such as fresh herb garnishes and other extra special touches. The selections are unique but not foreign.

The focus is on the food, the service, the company, and, of course, the breathtaking view of the grounds and Borden Lake right outside your window.

Lately, it's been said that, "Chapleau is not known for its food."

Those who have had the experience of dining at Chapleau Lodge know different.

It may take a few minutes to drive out to Chapleau Lodge for dinner but the ride through the forest is part of the whole adventure. Just where you least expect it, a real gem continues to shine.

Bob, Sally, and Olivia Landry.

Chapleau Public School bids farewell to three teachers

On June 4th Chapleau Public School staff honoured three long time teachers with a retirement dinner and social held at Chapleau High School, catered by Ray Gouge and Company. Dianne Decosse, Jeannette Gjoni and Maartje Wright were each presented with framed prints by local artist Vikki Burkholder. These three teachers have over 100 years experience between them. They will be missed by both students and staff. We wish them all the BEST in the future.

On June 24th a special assembly was held at Chapleau Public School to honour their three retiring teachers. School Council presented Dianne Decosse, Jeannette Gjoni and Maartje Wright with framed pictures of the school and memory books written by their students. Kind words were said by both council members and retiring teachers.

Gardening from the ground up Gardening in Good Taste

By Mary Lynne Ivey

Many people feel that they don't have the time or space to grow vegetables, or that a vegetable plot just wouldn't look right with the rest of their yard, but edible and ornamental planting can be combined for a low-maintenance garden that looks and tastes good.

Traditionally, edible and ornamental plants are grown separately. When growing vegetables to feed a household all year, or to be sold at market, it is practical to have each different vegetable planted in a long row, with space to walk between each row for tending and harvesting. For those of us who don't need a big harvest, but still want the satisfaction of putting something on the table from our own gardens, there is no reason not to mingle the edible and ornamental plants.

Some edible plants are actually a benefit to other plants around them. Rosemary, Sage, and Thyme (pronounced 'time') are common perennial herbs that can be used fresh or dried as herbs for cooking. They not only look, taste, and smell good, but they also help to keep some insect pests out of your garden. (You don't want to be using chemical pesticides if you are planning to eat anything out of your garden!) Garlic and Chives also repel insects, and go well in summer salads. They have white, pink, purple, or blue flowers. Chives will seed itself throughout your garden if the flowers are allowed to go to seed, so the flowers should be cut off when they begin to turn brown. Mint is another effective insect-repelling plant. It is said to keep ants away from fruits and vegetables. There are several species that will grow here, used for tea, as a dried herb, or as a fresh garnish.

The attractive foliage of Coriander, Fennel, or Parsley can add body and texture to a flower bed. Parsley leaves should be clipped and used regularly to keep a neat mounded shape. Asparagus is another very striking foliage plant. Its feathery leaves can provide a perfect backdrop for taller flowers like Hollyhock (Alcea) or Coneflower (Rudbeckia). Planted in a group, some of the Asparagus sprouts can be cut for cooking while others are left to grow. Swiss Chard is an annual vegetable that is often planted in sunny flower borders for its bright red-, yellow-, or orange-stalked leaves. The leaves can be picked off all summer, a few at a time, and used fresh in sandwiches or cooked like Spinach. As with Spinach, the flower stalks of Chard must be picked off before the flowers can open to keep the leaves from becoming bitter.

Edible plants can include flowers, as well. Nasturtiums, Pansies, and Sweet Peas add a lot of colour to a garden, and the flowers can add colour to salads as well. The roots of Jerusalem Artichoke (Helianthus tuberosa) can be cooked and eaten. Although most root vegetables (potatoes, radishes, beets, etc.) need a clear space around them to grow well, this tall relative of the Sunflower can be grown in a border with other flowers.

If you have some sunny space to fill in your garden, why not experiment with planting some herbs or vegetables interspersed with the flowers, for a garden that tastes as good as it looks!

Province bans burning in Northeastern Ontario

The province is imposing a Restricted Fire Zone in a large portion of northeastern Ontario because of growing threat of wildfires resulting from the prolonged heat wave and dry weather.

Effective at midnight Wednesday July 13 and until further notice all open burning on Crown land, including campfires, is banned in an area stretching from Manitowadge to the Quebec border.

The ban covers the area north of the French and Mattawa rivers, including Lake Nipissing, west of the Ottawa River, south of 50 degrees 30 minutes north latitude,

Exceptions to the burning restrictions include organized campgrounds, private or in provincial parks, that use approved fire pits. Campers in these organized campgrounds are still Under the Restricted Fire Zone, people can still use portable gas stoves for cooking and warmth.

Ministry fire staff and conservation officers will strictly enforce the ban on open burning.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Approximately a month ago we had gone to Borden Lake beach for a swim. I couldn't believe how long the grass was and how much garbage was there. A week later, I had taken my own rake and started working the beach. I later approached the MNR and they advised me that they didn't have the funding or the manpower to maintain all the small beaches in our area. I later approached the Borden Lake Camp Association and they were willing to help. I'd like to thank the Borden Lake Camp Association for taking the time to cut the grass and remove all the garbage. I looks much better. To anyone who uses the beach, don't be shy, bring a rake and garbage bags and keep our beaches clean. What would be the state of our area parks if it wasn't for the local citizens that care.

Sincerely, Tahise Demers

Licence-free fishing is no fish tale

By Shelley Martel

The weekend of July 8-10, 2005 was Ontario Family Fishing Weekend across the province. For those three days, Canadians were able to enjoy fishing in Ontario without a licence. The weekend fishing opportunity provided a chance for people of all ages to be introduced to and attempt fishing without investing in a licence. It also gave people who haven't fished in a while a chance to get reacquainted with the sport and test the waters in Ontario.

The same rules applied as regular fishing although there was no limit set to the amount of catch and release fishing that could be enjoyed.

In the Chapleau area, the very hot weather didn't offer the best conditions for fishing. The Chapleau River was pretty quiet over the weekend although early morning and evening fishing seemed to be popular at some of our outlying resorts.

The Canadian National Sportfishing

Foundation and the National Recreational Fishing Task Group declared July 2nd - 10th as National Fishing Week.

National Fishing Week was created in order to encourage recreational fishing and an appreciation for the outdoors. Fishing is an easy and affordable way to enjoy family time together. As Canadians, fishing is part of our culture.

Another important aspect of fishing that is worth mentioning is the fact that it generates over 7 billion dollars every year for the Canadian economy.

For a tourism based town like Chapleau, National Fishing Week and Ontario Family Fishing Weekend are reel reasons to hook up with friends and family and catch the fishing bug!

Cruising and investment for the Tembec Chapleau sawmill

Tembec is pleased with their investment in Chapleau. Since the acquisition of the sawmill from Weyerhaeuser in December of 2003 the sawmill staff and it's employees have confirmed that this was a good decision. The exchange of wood supply with Domtar in January has only improved the situation. Tembec's expectations have been met and in some cases exceeded. The production records the mill has set since the third shift has been started exemplify this.

Also in recent months, Tembec has been working together with the Ministry of Natural Resources in the development of a new forest management plan for the combined Superior and J.E. Martel Forest. The plan is progressing very well and Tembec encourages everyone to come out to the next information centre to learn more and to be actively engaged in the process. The next information centre will be held in Chapleau on Thursday July 21st from 2:00 p.m. through 8:00 p.m. at the Royal Canadian Legion.

Tembec announced in January that they planned on investing in the Chapleau sawmill. In order to ensure that a suitable investment is made a detailed plan is being prepared for the facility. The first step of that process is to forecast what the shape and size of logs will be coming from the forest over the next five years.

Tembec was not comfortable that the information on log sizes and shape was good enough to make wise decisions on new equipment types for the sawmill. They have therefore enlisted the assistance of Cree-Tech to do some additional fieldwork.

The purpose of this fieldwork is to strengthen our knowledge of various forest and tree attributes such as tree size, tree length, tree age and the relative mix of species out there. Armed with such information, Tembec will be better able to select the proper sawmill equipment to make the best use of the logs available from our forest.

Most of the fieldwork has been completed and the compilation of the information will be happening during the upcoming weeks. This information will be used by the mill staff and employees to design a leading edge mill for Chapleau.

At that point I made my decision that this would be my profession. I went to study at Canadore College in North Bay to get my Business Administration Accounting. This was a three year course. I stayed because I love Chapleau. It also offered employment opportunities in my field.

4th annual Chapleau Nature Festival

de la nature

July 20th to 24th

Quatrième édition 2005

Message du Maire

Earle J. Freeborn

Message from the Mayor

The fourth annual Chapleau Nature Festival is scheduled for July 20 to 24, 2005. We all remember with great pride the success and excitement that the first three Nature Festivals brought to our community. Our Festivals have made the Top 50 list of Ontario Festivals each year. Quite an achievement for the Town of Chapleau.

We look forward with the great anticipation to this year's Festival and invite everyone to come and take part in it. Once again we have partnered with Centre culturel Louis-Hémon to share in the responsibility for the organization and success of the 2005 Festival. I am confident that all Chapleau residents, family members and visitors will enjoy the program of events that highlight the natural wonders of our area and experience the wealth of cultural and arts events being presented.

We urge you to mark your calendars and make plans and reservations to attend this great event and look forward to seeing you there.

La 4<sup>ème</sup> édition du Festival de la nature de Chapleau se déroulera du 20 au 24 juillet 2005. Le succès et l'exaltation des premières éditions du festival ont semé une grande fierté au coeur des Chapleauites. En effet, à tous les ans notre festival figure au nombre des 50 manifestations par excellence de l'Ontario. C'est tout un accomplissement pour cette petite collectivité.

Nous avons donc très hâte de vous accueillir lors de cette version 2005 du festival. Encore une fois, la municipalité de Chapleau est heureuse de s'associer au Centre culturel Louis-Hémon pour en assurer l'organisation et le succès. Tout en mettant en valeur les richesses naturelles de la région, notre programmation vous propose d'inoubliables expériences culturelles et artistiques.

Notez bien la date et n'oubliez pas d'inclure le Festival de la nature de Chapleau dans vos projets de vacances. Au très grand plaisir de vous accueillir!

Wildwood Bible Camp offers safe summer fun

A group of campers and councillor from the Honour Cabin.

By Shelley Martel

Each summer dozens of kids from the Chapleau area anxiously await their week at Wildwood Bible Camp. Will their favourite councillor be back again this year? Will that kid that they met from Wawa last year be there? Will they finally get Honour Cabin this year?

Wildwood Bible Camp was built in 1969 as a result of an idea hatched by three Chapleau men. Ron Millson, Len Fex, and Jim Demers have since left the community.

In 1979, Doug Barnes, as General Director, and a board of directors took over and have been running the camp ever since. Wildwood Bible Camp is a non-profit, charitable organization with a dedicated staff of between 30 and 45 volunteers.

The Barnes family left Chapleau for the Huntsville area quite a few years ago, but return the first week of June every year to prepare for the groups of rambunctious campers who will be coming through until the last week of August.

Doug, or Silo as he is known by the kids, actively recruits the councillors from churches and youth groups down in southern Ontario.

Although most of the councillors are college and university age, some pick up 2 or 3 summer jobs in order to come up to Wildwood to volunteer their time.

The camp offers two weeks of boys' camp and three weeks of girls' camp, for kids between the ages of 7 and 15, as well as two weeks of family camp. Each of these weeks usually sees 55-60 campers. Even though advertising is only done in the Chapleau and Wawa areas, campers have come from as far as Oshawa, Sarnia, and Calgary. Most of these children have parents who attended Wildwood and want their children to experience the camp. Doug Barnes shares,

"The one thing that pleases me is that there are 3rd generation kids here. Their grandparents were campers here when we started."

People of all religions are welcome at Wildwood Bible Camp. Barnes states that their philosophy is, "To give kids a safe camping experience and introduce them to Jesus Christ. We want them to know that it is an option without forcing anyone."

There are 30 buildings on the property, which include a craft trailer for girls' camp, staff cabins, and a Lodge. The Lodge is a log building complete with a stone fireplace and rustic atmosphere. It contains the chapel, kitchen, and dining room.

The hearty meals served here range from traditional roast beef and turkey dinners to make-your-own-sandwich and pasta night eaten with random kitchen utensils! The long pine tables and benches bring to mind, dare I say, a food fight or at least a good opportunity to bond with fellow campers. No one between the ages of 7 and 15 reads the paper, do they?!

The 6 modest cabins accommodate 2 councillors and usually 9 campers. There are large beds for the councillors and 5 sets of bunks for the campers. The walls and bunks are alive with the 'autographs' of the many campers from years past. Many a fond memory has been created here.

The most coveted Honour Cabin award is presented to the group that has earned the most points for cleanest cabin, games, and memory work etc.. At the end of the week, the winning cabin enjoys a pizza party and receives Honour Cabin t-shirts.

Qualified lifeguards are on staff all summer and the waterfront is a very busy place. The program has been modified from the past and now focuses more on fun and safety rather than earning badges and levels. A 13 foot tower and slide, water trampoline, paddle boats, canoes, and kayaks keep the campers cool and entertained.

For the sports enthusiasts, a rock climbing wall, baseball, basketball, soccer, hockey and wide games, such as capture the flag, ensure a good night's sleep away from home.

On the ride home, the air is full of chatter about Smurf or T-bone the councillors, or who caught fish, or what gross incident may have occurred. (What happens at camp should stay at camp!) The kids are a little different than when you dropped them off. (Even after a half hour meeting in the tub with a nailbrush and soap!) Days later your child will still be singing bible songs even though they don't get all the words right (...behold He comes, riding on a clown?!) and talking about what they are going to do next year at Wildwood Bible Camp.

Reflection: Taking time to reflect on the good

As we plunge into another Chapleau Nature Festival week, we are filled with anticipation. Visitors and performers will be assembling here to revel in our area's natural beauty, as well as to celebrate a great display of talent. Friendships will be made or renewed. Fellowship will be enjoyed around many a table. People will jump in to try things they never did before. Perhaps they will discover great joy in a new skill: archery, dancing, scuba dancing... well, why not?

Participants arriving here may find delight and thankfulness in their discovery of our place, our music, our diverse cultures. Those of us who live here may experience a lift of the heart just because, in spite of hard knocks recently endured, Chapleau is still up to hosting a party! Sometimes this week, maybe many times, someone will look around at the celebration and say "This is as good as it gets!"

Did you ever get a surprise gift? You didn't expect it, and maybe never found out who sent it. It might have been an article chosen for you, or just a note saying you had done well in something; an encouraging word at the right moment. How good it feels to know someone noticed your effort and valued it. You are thankful that someone has thought of you.

Experiences of beauty, joy, fellowship, adventure and the awesome variety of Nature, are works of God sent to refresh us. He is thinking of you. Return thanks to Him, in your own way, this week.

Nature Festival ready to roll

By Jim Prince

As workers complete the final preparations leading up to this year's version of the Chapleau Natural Festival, they are doing so knowing it's going to be a sold out affair.

Conceived four years ago to promote Chapleau as a prime destination in Northern Ontario, nestled in the Boreal forest and on the limits of the world's largest Crown game Preserve, the Festival appears headed for another successful run.

After many months of meetings and planning, the Festival Committee has come up with a program of events which is sure to please all those who attend over the course of this coming weekend.

The Festival Committee, which is comprised of a group of community volunteers, has been meeting since last year when it was decided to stage another Festival.

"I certainly wish to thank all those dedicated individuals who attended our meetings to assist in developing another Festival," said committee chair Don McEachren. "Thanks to their hard work and dedication, we are sure to have an other excellent event."

To carry out daily work of staging the Festival, the committee hired three staff members, and lined up some outstanding Canadian talent to take over the main stag during the three evenings of the Festival. The groups include, Kalan Porter, the Canadian Idol, Jeff Healey and La Bottine Souriante.

Chapleau

While booking headliners for the evening concerts, the Festival organizers also ensured the other main feature, the annual fiddling an step dancing competition, would attract another impressive list of competitors.

And there are many other reasons to attend the Festival. Art shows, children's attractions, a paddle down the river, archery, and scuba diving, all proven winners in previous years have been repeated this year. A downtown sidewalk sale, which drew large crowds in the past, is being repeated.

"We have something for all ages over the weekend," said McEachren. Noting the heavy early demand for Festival passes, which gains entry to all events, he added, "all that remains is for everyone to go out and enjoy it all."

Chapleau Masonic Bursary

Mr. James Petrosky receives the Dr. William R. Pellow Masonic Bursary of $3,000 at the Chapleau High School commencement Wednesday June 29, 2005.

Master of Ceremonies, Gabriela and Frederick Dell, your honour Mayor Earl Freeborn, Pastor Rolly MacLean, Pricipal Ross Hryhorchuck, teachers, ladies and gentlemen, students, honour graduates and alumni.

First I would like to express my appreciation to principal Ross Hryhorchuck and the Bursary Committee for the opportunity to present the Dr. William R. Pellow Masonic Bursary.

The Masonic Lodge was dedicated in Chapleau in 1924, 81 years ago and is still a vibrant lodge in the community, one of 608 lodges that house over 50,000 members in Ontario and is a historical segment of the oldest and largest fraternal organization in the world. The Masons in North America raise over one million ($1,000,000) each and every day of the year for charity.

This fund has been established for charitable purposes of an educational nature and in particular, for Bursaries and financial assistance for the benefit of students in full study at a University or College in their first year of enrollment after graduating from the Chapleau High School.

In concert with principal Mr. Ross Hryhorchuck, the Bursary Committee this year was asked to either amalgamate with others to form a larger Bursary or to increase the annual amount of our Bursary. The Committee chose to increase our Bursary Award ten fold to $3,000.

Mr. James Petrosky is focused on what he wants to be and where he wants to attend for post secondary education. He has worked diligently to achieve his goals, to save and to accomplish his objectives. He is realistic and has a striking scholastic record and has taken part in school and community activities and even participated in a program at Carleton University in Ottawa in 2004. He is President of his graduating class (2005). We wish him well at Waterloo University in the Faculty of Engineering.

President: Yen Hong; Secretary-Treasurer: Dr. William R. Pellow; Directors: John McKnight, James Broomhead, Chad Byce, Tom O'Shaunessey and Roger Miziguchi.

The Masonic Bursary have adopted-a-highway on '101'. We also presented council with our signs which will be incorporated on the 'New' general signboard, approved by council and in the process of completion to be erected in 2005 at the entrance of town, at the end of Monk Street.

Chapleau Bursary coffee mugs and beautifully packaged postcards (28 to a package, all occasions, with envelopes, all Chapleau scenes) can be purchased at Collins Home Furniture, memorial cards for donations (in lieu of flowers) are at the Funeral Home and also at Collins Hardware. Excellent venues to remember loved ones and at the same time, supporting this Bursary to assist a Chapleau student. The bursary is a registered charity. Purchases/donations are tax deductible. If you would like some information on Masonry in Ontario, contact P.O. Box 142 Chapleau (James Broomhead Secretary).
