Chapleau runners impress at Black Fly Run

by Ian Mailloux

Feet hit the trail strong at the 2010 Wawa Black Fly Run as local runners competed and placed in 5k and 10k runs as well as a half-marathon.

Fifteen participants from Chapleau took part in the 10th anniversary of the event, which tours historic and scenic locales in Wawa, including Wawa Lake and monuments signifying Wawa's mining history.

The strong runs and quality results by our local runners impressed Pauline Connors, the Township of Chapleau's activities co-ordinator, who finished third among females in the half-marathon.

"There are only about 2,300 people living here, so you wouldn't think there would be so many runners here," said Connors.

Strong runs were had by many of Chapleau's entrants, but none were stronger than Eric Leishman's. He won the 10k run for the third year in a row, this time winning by over five minutes and besting the record time by more than three minutes.

It's just another notch in the belt of the accomplished runner, whose Cambrian College cross country team went to Camrose, Alta. last year to compete in the 2009 Canadian Colleges Athletic Association Cross Country Running Championships, the national meet for colleges all across the country.

Leishman trains all year round, totalling 130 km each week. He said it requires dedication and determination to train six days a week, but also that maintaining such a schedule can be demanding.

"It's something you have to want, it's like a job," said Leishman.

Connors believes most runners train on their own and thinks everyone would benefit from an organized running club in Chapleau, with hopes of drawing even more participation next year.

Next year's Black Fly Run is set for Saturday, June 25, 2011, a date Eric Leishman will certainly have circled on the calendar.

Connors, however, maintains that it's not always about winning. "It's about participation," said Connors. "But it's nice to win, too."

Shed Vandalized Five Times

During the past five weeks a storage shed located at 24 Birch Street in Chapleau. The shed is located in an isolated area immediately to the rear of a local chip stand. Although nothing appears to have been removed, considerable damage has been caused to the entrance doors on the shed as a result of these incidents. To apprehend those responsible and end these senseless incidents, The OPP is asking anyone with information to contact The OPP at 1-888-310-1122 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Michael reflects on Grey Street to Elgin Street as connecting link on first anniversary of Chapleau Moments with personal thoughts of home

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

A year ago when I accepted Mario Lafreniere's invitation to write a column for the Chapleau Express, I wondered if I would be able to come up with enough material for a month's worth of Chapleau Moments.

Since starting Chapleau Moments a year ago this week, I have often reminded myself of the words that Dr. J.B. McClinton shared with me in a Timmins restaurant shortly after my arrival there to begin my career as a daily newspaper reporter with The Daily Press in 1964. I was having coffee with Dr. McClinton, a great promoter of Northern Ontario and Highway 101 connection between Chapleau and Timmins, and he said, "So, you want to be a reporter.

"Look around you. There are stories everywhere. If you never left this restaurant for the rest of your life, you would never be able to write all the stories that happened in this place."

Well, "let me tell you" as my good friend Dr. G.E. Young would say when he started a story, if I continued to write for another 46 years, I would never be able to share all the stories about the people and moments that are part of Chapleau's history.

Let me first thank Mario for providing me with the opportunity to share some Chapleau moments with you -- the stories of the incredible people who have called Chapleau home -- those who still live there, those who now live somewhere else, and those who are no longer with us but left their mark on the life of the community since 1885, and before.

Let me thank all those who have contacted me during the past year with comments, story ideas and their recollections of the life and times of Chapleau. Maybe that's been the best part of the experience, reconnecting with so many of you over the past year and bringing back such wonderful memories of home.

And yes, I've discovered beyond any doubt that Chapleau is still considered home to those who have lived there, even if like me, they have been gone for many years. It has also been great to open emails from folks I do not know to read about their connection to Chapleau.

Of course, I am not really "from" Chapleau, having been born in Hamilton, Ontario, where my father, James E. Morris, who was born in Chapleau, was a flying instructor at the Elementary Flying Training School at Mount Hope, part of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan in World War II. He had joined the RCAF in 1940 but took leave to be a flying instructor, at the EFTS. My mother, Muriel E. (Hunt) Morris was born in Glasgow, Scotland and came to Chapleau with her parents just before World War I.

When my father went back into the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1942, we returned to Chapleau to stay with family while he was overseas on active service during World War II. We stayed after he was killed while on active service on July 16, 1943-- 67 years ago this week.

Many readers will recall my mother who taught at Chapleau Public School for 32 years, and let me say thanks to all those who have kindly remembered her in messages to me during the past year. While at the public school she directed annual concerts including Gilbert and Sullivan's musical 'HMS Pinafore'. Billy Kemp, Charlie Byce and Gordon Bolduc all had leading roles in this production, while Joan Kemp was the pianist.

Muriel and James Morris, taken in 1941 when Michael's father was an instructor at the Elementary Flying Training School, part of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan of World War II.

Mom was also very active in St. John's Anglican Church where she was choir director. However, one of the great moments in her church life was undoubtedly in 1935 at a service marking the 50th anniversary of the parish. As one of the soloists she sang 'Now the Day is Over.' Her father, my grandfather, George Hunt was the choir director while the organist was Miss Nettie Herner, who later married Arthur Grout. My grandmother, Edith Hunt, along with Mrs. P.J. Collins were joint conveners of the banquet. In 1974, Mom married Ernie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. P.J. Collins.

In my first Chapleau Moments column, I shared my tricycle ride from our home on Grey Street, uptown and across the old overhead bridge, to visit my grandparents, Lil (Mulligan) and Harry Morris on Elgin Street. It just struck me that trips from Grey Street to Elgin Street were actually started by my parents when they were dating in the 1930s -- a connecting link for us to both sides of early Chapleau. As I have noted previously my grandmother was a member of the Mulligan family who came to Chapleau in 1885.

This time let me tell you a bit about my father and some of his friends, and moments they shared growing up in Chapleau. Born in 1914 in Chapleau, he attended Chapleau Public School and Chapleau High School graduating from Grade 13 in 1933, and yes, one of his teachers was John 'Mac' McClellan. In fact, Mr. McClellan coached the juvenile hockey team he played on with Gordon McKnight, Don Robinson, Eric Young, Walter Moore, Bobby Perpete, B. McAdam, Joe Crichton and Romeo Levesque.

In his application to the RCAF, he noted that he was involved in all school and local athletics, including track and field where along with Claude Turner and Ken Godfrey they won marathon relay races at Schreiber and Fort William in 1931, 1932 and 1933. In those years Chapleau had very active track and field club with a five mile race held in conjunction with July 1 celebrations.

After the war, the James E. Morris Memorial Trophy was established and it was won by Greg Lucas so many times that it was finally given to him. In the 1970s, the five mile race was revived and Greg would present the trophy to the winner.

Tennis was also popular and I learned to play from some of my father's friends including Greg, Eric Young and Charlie McKee, as well as Rev. Frank Leigh who would have been a bit older. We played on the St. John's Tennis court and, those guys could really whack a ball, and won some northern Ontario titles in their prime.

After graduating from high school, my father became assistant secretary at the Chapleau Railway YMCA for three years. The YMCA on Lorne Street was a beehive of activity in those years with rooms, a restaurant, sports activities and a bowling alley downstairs. As an aside the most famous bowler in my memory was Mrs. Mabel Young, Dr. Young's mother. Dr. Young was also one of my father's good friends. Mr. 'Pop' Depew was the secretary as the manager was called.

Of course, growing up in Chapleau meant skating in the "old" arena on Lorne Street as well as playing hockey on outdoor rinks including on the river by the present beach, skiing, hiking and camping and swimming.

Two of my father's good friends who shared memories of growing up with him, which I really appreciated were Clyde Fife and F.A. 'Nick' Card.

When I turned 16, and went to get my driver's license, Clyde was the examiner and when I arrived, and knocked on his door, he said, "I was expecting you today. I was there when you were born." And he was. Clyde had enlisted in the RCAF and at the time was stationed in Toronto. So, on the day I got my driver's license, Clyde told me stories, and finally asked, "How did you get here?" to which I replied, "I drove". Clyde replied that seeing as how I had driven to his home near the old power plant, I could drive home and he approved my license. Clyde is the father of Robert Fife, now the Ottawa bureau chief of CTV News.

Nick, who served as reeve of Chapleau and also as a councillor grew up on Elgin Street almost next door to my Dad. In fact, until Walter Paradis built his home there, a vacant lot separated their houses. I don't know if it is still visible today, but almost across from their homes was a big rock on which they painted, "Kilgore was here."

My father's love of flying started at an early age when he would go down to the Chapleau waterfront and hang out with the early bush pilots who would fly in to Chapleau in the 1930s. An article in the Toronto Telegram after he was killed noted that he was involved with early bush pilots. In applying to the RCAF he wrote that he had acquired knowledge in "part time employment" around aircraft. According to my grandfather, he really was learning to fly planes, thinking that his mother did not know. She did. Mothers always know.

In 1936 he joined the Canadian Pacific Railway department of investigation and in 1939 was part of the security team for the Royal Visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. He received his private pilot's license at the Fort William Flying Club in 1937. In sharing a bit about my parents with you, I do so with a great sense of gratitude to them for making the decision to have my mother and I return to Chapleau while my father went overseas. Despite the tragic loss of him when I was so young, I was able to grow up close to my wonderful grandparents - George and Edith Hunt and Harry and Lil Morris - and among the greatest people I have ever known, the good people of Chapleau. Thank you for being the people you are. My email is mj.morris@live.ca

Volunteer...why not?

Summer has just begun, so why should I even worry about volunteering? That is one of two possible viewpoints that can be adopted about giving away some of your time in the summer months.

The other is, summer has begun and this is the perfect time to do some volunteering!

Chapleau in summertime provides unique opportunities not only for recreation and fun, but also for members of the community to give back. If you appreciate the outdoors and have ever been on the "Michael Levesque Trail", then you have come face-to-face with one of Chapleau's impressive man-made features. This trail however does not clear itself, nor does it keep itself marked, or free from danger. This is work that is done by the hands of helpful volunteers; why not you?

graduate; it is for young and old alike. It is an excellent opportunity to gain work experience and perform interesting tasks. Summer is an appealing time for this as many of those tasks can be done in the great outdoors.

If you do not want to commit to volunteering with any particular project or group, remember it is easy to help one another in small ways every day. If you see a piece of garbage on the sidewalk and think "someone" should pick it up, remember that you are "someone"! The author of fables, Aesop, has been quoted as having said, "No act of kindness, no matter how small, is ever wasted". Perhaps this is an ideal that we should integrate into our dealings with one another. Get involved - volunteer!

Invitation for Public Comment Independent Audit of the Gordon Cosens Forest For the period April 1, 2005 - March 31, 2010

ArborVitae Environmental Services Ltd. invites you to provide written comments to the upcoming Independent Audit of the Crown land portion of the Gordon Cosens Forest. The Gordon Cosens Forest is managed by Tembec Inc., with the Ministry of Natural Resources contributing by overseeing operations, ensuring compliance with laws and regulations, and approving forest management plans, annual work plans and reports.

Under the Independent Forest Audit program, all Forest Management Units in the province are audited every five years to ensure that their management has followed approved plans and complies with the requirements of the Crown Forest Sustainability Act. The audits also assess the effectiveness of forest management activities in achieving management objectives and forest sustainability.

This audit evaluates the forest management performance from April 1, 2005 to March 31, 2010 by conducting a thorough review of relevant management plans, annual reports and other documents, field inspections of harvesting and other operations, and interviews with MNR and company staff and stakeholders. During the audit, between 10-20% of the field operations will be examined.

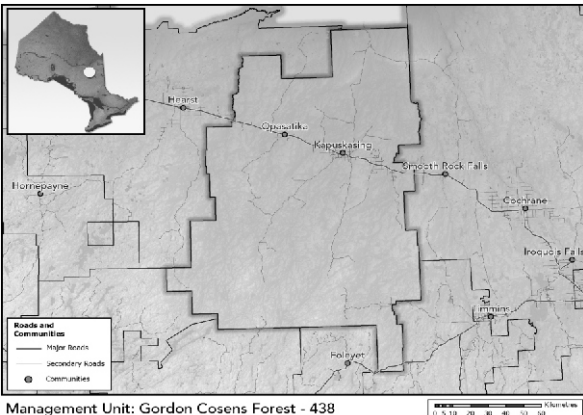

The auditors, ArborVitae Environmental Services Ltd., invite comments on:

- the performance of Tembec and MNR in sustainably managing the Crown portion of the forest;
- concerns regarding specific instances or areas in which forest management operations on Crown land have not followed approved plans or provincial regulations;
- concerns regarding specific instances in which operations have not been effective or have harmed the environment;
- specific or general instances in which forest management has been exemplary.

Please note that the audit does not examine management of other forests, private land or other aspects of the performance of the MNR or the Company.

All replies received in response to this invitation must be in writing and will be given serious consideration. Responses by mail, fax, or e-mail will be considered. Lorne Lodge No. 622

Masonic Bursary Award Winner

The annual Dr. William R. Pellow Masonic Bursary Award winner 2010 for $3000 was Ms. Cara McKnight, 63 Ash Street, Chapleau, Ontario. Cara will be attending University in the fall, taking a Registered Nursing course. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McKnight. Cara has received the "Marie Swanson" athlete of the year award several times, served on the student's council every year she attended C.H.S and has worked the past four years at the Chapleau Hospital in community volunteer service as well as consistently keeping up her scholastic averages. Very impressive and commendable Cara. We extend our best wishes to Cara as she begins her formal education in her chosen career. The Bursary committee appreciates the continued direction and assistance of Principal Ross Hryhorchuk and his staff in confirming scholastic achievements of all applicants to the Masonic Bursary.

Lorne Lodge No.622 was established in 1924 and already plans are being formed for our centennial in 2024. Then our regalia and jewels will be changed to "gold" when we reach our 100th birthday. In the past two years the Masonic Lodge has progressed steadily in leaps and bounds and several members have enjoyed the weekly participation in contributing their respective talents and time in the lodge enhancements and rejuvenation. The finished product is indeed magnificent. Our attendance at our meetings has skyrocketed. We are extremely proud of our renovated quarters in Chapleau.

Teddy Burns was elected as Worshipful Master (President) of Lorne Lodge No.622, June 4th 2010. There are over 500 lodges in the jurisdiction of Ontario and over 50,000 members. Charity is our principle precept.

The Adopt A Highway Program

Lorne Lodge No. 622 Chapleau has been fortunate in securing three sections of highway to maintain. 101 West, 101 East and 129 South. As a reward for making our presence known in Chapleau we have the satisfaction that we are playing a small part in keeping our environment tidy and clean. It is a fun mornings work and annually we have an after glow party down the lake to say thank you to all who participated. It is amazing what people throw out of their cars onto the right of way. In our short mile allotted three sections we have picked up in one year, 16 garbage bags of papers, junk, car parts and pieces and hundreds of Pepsi cans.

The Dr. Vince Crichton Lecture Series

Once again Dr. Vince Crichton PhD., world expert on ungulates, (Moose, deer, elk, and caribou) has graciously consented to provide us with a talk on MOOSE. Topic "The world of the moose with the Man who would be Moose". Dr. Vince is world renown and was the guest lecture in Russia in 2009 at The Ungulate World Conference. He has lectured in several states in USA and provinces in Canada. He recently retired as Chief of Wild Life for the Province of Manitoba. He serves on several government panels as an advisor on wild life preservation and as an advisor in scientific studies in wild life Canada. We are indeed fortunate to have such a skilled scientist provide us with information and knowledge about the largest creature that roams the forest in and around Chapleau. Admission is FREE. There will be a light lunch served at the completion of the presentation. A volunteer donation to the Chapleau Masonic Bursary will be possible. Dr. Vince is a seasoned lecturer and with his professional accumulation of slides, he makes his topics very interesting, entertaining and informative. Please mark this date on your calendar. Get up, get dressed and get out and attend. We look forward to sharing his talents and knowledge with you. The presentation will be at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, July 30th at 7 P.M..

Invite your Masonic friends and family for a day outdoors. Sauna, swimming, rad-boarding, paddle boating, lots of laughs, fun draws, sun bathing, great food and refreshments, super fellowship and just a good time. Rain or shine. Last year it sprinkled rain. This year by the law of averages it will be sunshine. Lots of it. Bring your sun screen. Drive to the landing on Jackson Lake (Kanipahow Road) and we will pick you up and bring you back. Boat Ferry is continuous. Honk your horn!

May 4th 2010

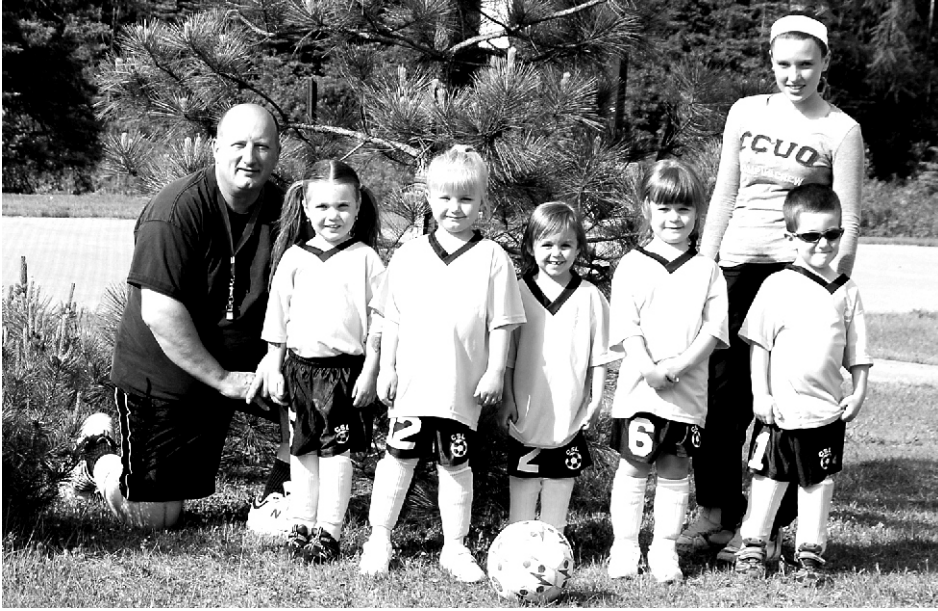

On May 4 the Grand Master paid Lorne Lodge No.622 a fraternal visit. Many guests and Grand Lodge officers attended this special meeting in Chapleau. The trip was organized by Joseph Patrick Gillespie who several years ago supervised the training for our water plant employees. 50 Masons and their spouses reserved the Bud Car from Sudbury and we had a packed house with over 85 Masons in attendance at the lodge meeting in the afternoon...
Graham Bertrand

a close friend of Patrick Gillespie was advanced. While the men had their meeting, the ladies were treated with a visit to the Chapleau Museum, the lumber mills and a tour of the CL 415 water bomber. Councilor Rose Bertrand was a wonderful tour guide and community hostess. All were very impressed with Rose's kindness and enthusiasm she has for her community.

In the evening 111 guests sat down to a wonderful banquet at the Aux Trois Moulins restaurant. Worshipful Master Dr. Frank Broomhead and his officers were very proud of the great year they had. Denis Ladouceur excelled in designing the artistic place mats, a well outlined table fold with a history and picture of the Grand Master. The recent Masonic Bursary award winners were hosted and the widows of deceased members of the lodge were recognized and widow's pins were presented. The meeting was a historic event and lasted longer than anticipated. The staff and chef Doyle at the Aux Trois Moulins restaurant excelled in the service and the food was world class.

Rotary's Second Downtown Day

By George Evans

Last Saturday Chapleau's Birch Street turned into a pedestrian mall from 10 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon. In contrast to last year's Downtown Day, this year's was blessed with sunny and warm weather.

Local merchants offered side-walk-sale bargains in bicycles, clothing, portable gazebos, kitchenware, appliances, and knick-knacks.

Mission Motors of Wawa had cars for sale in front of the Post Office.

The major innovation was a community yard sale for which six families set up tables in the street to offer for sale some treasures that they had found in their garages, basements, and attics. Perhaps the most poignant of these was a pile of teddy bears and dolls that Celine Tessier had decided to offer to strangers.

Upbeat music emanating from Grouchy's Chip Stand set a festive tone. Across the street, Rotarians offered hotdogs, hamburgers, cheeseburgers, sausages, soft drinks, and shade under a canvas canopy. And for those with a sweet-tooth, Mme Servent offered spun sugar in the shadow of the Home Hardware Store.

Families walked among the goods displayed in front of the stores and on the yard-sale tables. When they got hungry or thirsty, food and drink were at hand. There was a very pleasant social feeling in the air.

This year's Rotary Downtown Day is now history. Rotarians will now assess the lessons of the experience and start to plan for next year.

The year 2010 is the hundredth anniversary of the beginnings of Rotary Young Mason Cyr, son of Jennifer and Allen Cyr was disappointed that there wasn't a bird in the cage on sale in front of Village Shops."

The picture shows the nearly finished school that Rotary Clubs from all across Canada, even little clubs like the one in Chapleau, are building in Jalalabad, Afghanistan. This is the way Canadian Rotarians are celebrating 100 years of Rotary in Canada. When the school is opened, 4000 young boys and girls will have a better chance at life.

in Canada. As a special centennial project, Rotary Clubs from across Canada, including the Rotary Club of Chapleau, have raised a total of $270,000, which sum, matched by the Canadian International Development Agency and Rotary Foundation, is building a school in Jalalabad, Afghanistan. This school will soon open to serve 4,000 young Afghani boys and girls.

The Rotary Club of Chapleau appreciates the cooperation of all who participated, especially that of the Township of Chapleau. Thank you for making it possible for us to extend a helping hand to the poor and desperate overseas as well as to be of service in our own community.

How the Space Station helps our forestry industry

(NC)—Canada's rich natural resources and reservoir of boreal and temperate forests has helped to ensure our place as the world's largest exporter of forest products. However, in recent years the forestry industry has been challenged by increasing offshore competition, an economic downturn and sustainability issues. To maximize the potential yield of our lumber, Canadian scientists have turned to an unexpected place: space.

This spring, Canadian white spruce seedlings will be sent to the International Space Station to help researchers understand how trees make wood. Known as APEX-CSA2 (advanced plant experiments on orbit), the experiment is led by Dr. Jean Beaulieu of Natural Resources Canada's Canadian Wood Fibre Centre in Quebec City, with the close collaboration of the Canadian Space Agency (CSA) and NASA. After 30 days of growing in space, the trees will be clipped and placed in cold storage until they return to Earth on the space shuttle later this summer. Beaulieu and his team will use a method developed with Genome Canada to compare the genes of plants that grew in space with plants grown under similar conditions on Earth. CSA scientist Dr.

Luchino Cohen is optimistic about APEX-CSA2: "This space research may contribute to the development of trees that will better serve Canada's forestry industry."

APEX-CSA2 follows APEX-Cambium, a University of New Brunswick study led by Professor Rod Savidge that sent willows to the space station in November 2009 to study the effects of gravity on "reaction wood" (wood that forms in trees leaning sideways, which is good for pulp and paper, but not lumber). Both experiments are expected to reveal clues about gravity's role in the formation of tree cells, which will improve the development and management of Canada's national forestry resources.

Corston reflects on election, installation as bishop

by Ian Mailloux

The ceremony has come and gone, and now Thomas Corston can breathe easy as he assumes day-to-day duties as the new Anglican bishop of Moosonee.

"I have to say it was pretty nerve-racking leading up to it," said Corston. "So many details to remember and just getting very nervous, but when the ceremony actually started, I was fine. I really enjoyed every minute of it."

The Chapleau-born Corston was consecrated July 6 at St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Cathedral in Timmins in a service attended by Anglican officials from across Ontario.

Sitting in Honger's Bar & Grill in Chapleau sipping a coffee, Corston was in town to visit family and his hometown in between visits to First Nations reserves. They're his first trips as bishop, a position Corston says he never aspired to.

"I think it's probably true that most clergy have a fleeting thought at least that one day they might be a bishop, and I've had lots of people throughout my career say 'One day you're going to be a bishop' but I never worked towards that job," said Corston. "I did whatever was asked of me, I just did my job."

The election process, which concluded in April, saw Corston withdraw his name from the running before receiving encouragement from many, including the Archbishop, which convinced him to resubmit his name.

The election itself took five ballots to determine Corston the bishop, and with each resulting ballot it became clear he would win.

"It's really very humbling to be elected by your peers," said Corston. "It's a pretty exciting moment once it happened."

Greeted after the ceremony with "Welcome home" and "We're so excited to have you home," Corston described the support as "very moving."

"The night before, I never slept a wink. I just could not sleep."

Corston is now based in Timmins at St. Matthew's Cathedral. He is the chief pastor to 26 Anglican parishes and serves over 8,000 parishioners in the diocese of Moosonee, an area that spans 350,000 sq. miles.

Bénévolat... pourquoi pas?

L'été vient alors pourquoi juste de commencer, devrais-je même penser à faire du bénévolat? C'est l'une des deux pensées possibles qui nous viennent à l'idée lorsque l'on pense à donner un peu de son temps dans les mois d'été. L'autre est, l'été a commencé et c'est le moment idéal pour faire du bénévolat!

Chapleau, en été, offre l'occasion unique non seulement pour les loisirs et le plaisir, mais aussi pour les membres de la communauté qui veulent donner de leur temps. En effet, si vous aimez le plein air et vous êtes sur le sentier « Michael Levesque », vous êtes devant non seulement un des plus impressionnants sentiers pédestres de Chapleau, mais devant une occasion de faire du bénévolat aussi. Cette piste ne peut pas s'entretenir toute seule, ni capable de se mettre des affiches, ou rester sécuritaire. C'est un travail qui est fait par les mains de bénévoles, alors pourquoi pas tes mains?

Il est important de se rappeler que le bénévolat n'est pas seulement pour les élèves du secondaire qui doivent effectuer 40 heures de bénévolat pour obtenir leur diplôme, c'est pour les jeunes et les moins jeunes. Il s'agit d'une excellente occasion d'acquérir une expérience de travail et d'accomplir des tâches intéressantes. L'été est une période idéale pour ça, car beaucoup de ces tâches peuvent être réalisées en plein air.

Si vous ne voulez pas vous engager à faire du bénévolat avec un projet particulier ou un groupe, n'oubliez pas qu'il est facile d'aider les uns les autres dans les petites choses chaque jour. Si vous voyez un morceau d'ordures sur le trottoir et pensez que « quelqu'un » devrait le jeter, n'oubliez pas que vous êtes « quelqu'un »! Ésope, l'auteur de fables, a dit: « Aucun acte de bonté, n'importe comment petit, n'est jamais perdu. ». C'est peut-être un idéal que nous devons intégrer dans nos rapports avec l'autre. Impliquez-vous — devenez bénévole!
