Third break-in at local store

A third break-in in less than nine months occurred at The Chapleau Village Shops. After the second break-in which occurred in August of 2006, the shop owners had spent a considerable amount of money to take all the necessary steps in preventing any further intrusions by installing metal grating in the windows and doors and upgrading the camera and security system.

In this latest occurrence, the culprits stole two vehicles in the early morning hours of Tuesday. One of the vehicles was used to ram the front door in order to gain access to the store. An undisclosed amount of jewelry and other valuable items were stolen.

The future of this community's businesses are in jeopardy unless twenty four hour policing is brought back and that the Ontario Provincial Police detachment becomes a stand alone and not a satellite detachment as it now stands.

This latest occurrence of blatant terrorism could have had dire consequences had this vehicle caught fire when it was rammed into the store.

This community as a whole is greatly affected by acts of this nature. It imperils employment at a time when the community is trying to create employment.

If anyone has any information regarding this break-in please call your local Ontario Provincial

Police detachment or 1-800-222-847
Crimestoppers at

Arrest Warrants issued on incident of Break Enter & Theft

issued for two individuals. Mr. Donald Lawrence SINOBERT (age 22) and Mr. Gregory REDBREAST (age 25) both with a last known address of Brunswick House First Nation near Chapleau are wanted for a host of Criminal Offences in relation to the incident.

Police received information to attend the Chapleau Village Shop, for a break and enter in progress just before 03:00 am on May 8th. Upon arrival the Officers found that the front doors of the business had been penetrated using a motor vehicle, causing extensive damage to the front of the building. Once inside the individuals stole several thousand dollars worth of assorted Jewelry and other items. The

The Value of Strategy Development

By Clara Lauzière
Economic Development Officer

One of the key aspects of local economic development is the planning or strategy development stage. Oftentimes frustration will emerge throughout the community as will a feeling that there is no progress, despite the fact that planning is being undertaken. This is a lengthy part of the economic development process, but the idea behind strategic planning is for residents to have their say in the determination of projects economic development staff will actively pursue. My philosophy towards strategic planning is simple - no one knows Chapleau better than those of you that live and do business here. A strategic plan that isn't driven by local ideas is one that will have a difficult time achieving its goals.

It is key that each of you take the time to participate in this type of a process and provide your thoughts and ideas. When it comes time to determine our priorities, we need to make our decisions based on valid information both positive and negative feedback. We are able to put any new ideas together with those that emerged in past plans that have not come to fruition but still have merit and determine what makes sense for Chapleau.

When we apply for help from the government to implement our projects, one of the main criteria they look for when determining their level of support is whether or not it ties in to a community strategic plan. Basically, they want to know that this is a growth area the community has chosen and this reason alone makes the process worthwhile. We also must keep in mind, that these plans need to be revisited every couple of years to make sure that based on the current economic situation, that they are still valid and relevant. This also allows for new ideas to be brought forward and worked on!

This process can be a bit of a catch-22. We need a clear plan to determine what kind of growth we see for the future, but at the same time, if we have a potential development, we cannot afford to wait for the process to be completed before we move forward.

Sometimes economic development is about opening your doors to something new and working out the details later. In short each economic development project or client is different and we must be able to adapt and move quickly to make sure that we capitalize on all opportunities.

Start thinking of new and old ideas I will be looking to all of you for help in the near future!

DSSAB surplus funds returned to municipality

By Jim Prince

The organization which is responsible for delivery of a number of social programs in Chapleau is returning money to its member municipalities for the sixth consecutive year.

The Manitoulin and Sudbury District Social Services Administration Board (DSSAB) reported it ended 2006 with a $206,311 operating surplus being returned to its nineteen member municipalities, including Chapleau, which is represented by Mayor Earle J. Freeborn.

In a news release, the Board noted the DSSAB has a history of conservative budgeting practices. Kirby Houle from the firm of Freelandt Caldwell and Reilly said the DSSAB's overall financial position is a strong one with a very good level of reserves.

Board Chair Ray Chénier remarked that this was the sixth consecutive year that the DSSAB was returning money to its member municipalities.

The DSSAB is responsible for administering such services and programs as OntarioWorks, providing subsidies for child care, Social Housing, which provides accommodation in places such as the Cedar Grove complex.

One of the most visible benefits of Chapleau's membership in the DSSAB is the new structure housing the land ambulance, one of the Board's major projects last year.

When the Board opened its new $400,000 ambulance garage in Chapleau last autumn, Chenier acknowledged the strong lobbying for the new facility by Mayor Freeborn. The Mayor, during his nine-year tenure on the board, has served as chairman of Human Resources and Property Committees.

"In the little more than seven full years that the DSSAB has existed, it has constantly lived within its operating budget. When one adds this $206,311 to sums previously returned to our member municipalities, this brings to over $3.7 million the amount that the DSSAB has returned to its member municipalities," stated Chenier in the news release.

Minister outlines position in Children's Aid services

By Jim Prince

The Chapleau municipal council has authorized Mayor Earle J. Freeborn to get assurances from the province it will continue its children's aid services in both official languages.

The request is a result of a letter to council from the provincial Minister of Children and Youth Services, Mary Anne Chambers, and follows the recent move to transfer services previously delivered by The Children's Aid Society of the Districts of Sudbury and Manitoulin from its Chapleau office to the Kunuwanimano Children and Family Services head-quartered in Timmins.

The move, when it was announced earlier this year was termed "totally unacceptable" by Mayor Freeborn. As a result of last Monday's Council meeting, the Mayor will tell the Minister that while the municipality congratulates Kunuwanimano, "we are requesting services for non-First Nations people in both official languages."

In her letter, the Children and Youth

Services Minister says her Ministry expects the Sudbury and Manitoulin Children's Aid Society will continue to be in a position to provide mandatory services.

"While my Ministry has agreed to pursue designation for Kunuwanimano, my ministry has not received or approved any plans for changes in jurisdiction of the Sudbury-Manitoulin ensure that your Children's Aid community is Society, and I have consulted in the asked that my planning process for ministry's Northern future service Regional Office delivery."

Take Time To Thank Your Mother

REPORT FROM Queen's Park
BY Mike Brown, Provincial Member of Parliament
for Algoma-Manitoulin

Mothers play a central role in all of our lives. From the moment of conception until the day we truly assert our own independence, it is our mothers who guide our learning and development, helping us to discover our own identities.

The role of the mother is no easy task.

They put their hearts and souls into providing the best they can for their children in the hopes that they will grow to realize their own dreams and become someone worthy of respect. In the earliest stages of our lives, they are responsible for planning and guiding us through our daily life. As we grow older, they are the shoulder that we lean on when we need advice or support.

It is easy to take for granted the ability to tie our shoes, for instance, as it is too easy to forget the hours our mothers put into teaching us this simple skill, and many others like it. As simple as some of these tasks may seem to us now, as a child, these were big achievements and milestones in our development. For our mothers, every little achievement was a building block into becoming the people we are today. It was their little reward for helping us to grow.

Mothers are also our safety net. As a child, they are the person we ran to when we fell off our bikes and skinned our knees. They are the people we called when we were away at university and were feeling homesick. They were also the ones who prepared that special care package that cheered us up when going home was not an option.

While sometimes our mothers played the role of disciplinarian, we know they only did so out of love. It is why they do what they do for us. And it is their unconditional love that helps us to rise up and be the best that we can be.

This year, Mother's Day is on Sunday, May 13th. While it is common to send flowers, candy and cards, be sure to take a moment and make that extra effort to truly thank your mother for all that she has done for you. It is easy to fall into the trappings of the occasion, but it only takes a little effort to offer your heartfelt thanks. It may seem simple, but much like the day you learned to tie your shoe, you can be sure that it will mean the world to your mother.

The Charter of Rights and Freedoms is a Centerpiece of Canadian Democracy

REPORT from OTTAWA
by Brent St. Denis

Federal member of Parliament
Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing

On April 17th, Canadians from coast to coast to coast celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Charter of Rights and Freedoms. At its core, the Charter asserts that the equal treatment of every Canadian is the centerpiece of our democracy. It transcends political boundaries, and has helped improve one of the most successful federations on the face of the planet.

The Charter is such an important document, enshrining rights like freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression and the freedom of conscience and religion into Canada's constitution. It enshrines democratic rights like the right to vote, and legal rights such as the right to life, liberty, and security of the person. Equality rights, language rights, and rights for Aboriginal peoples are also contained in the Charter.

"It is so much more than a legal document. It defines where we want to go as a nation, and how we want others to see us. It's a vision of what our country can and must strive for, a self-portrait of Canada that we desperately want to make true." said Liberal Leader Stéphane Dion.

Canadians from all walks of life are celebrating the Charter as it continues to inspire Canadians and promote equality. Canadians are immensely proud of the Charter of what it has given our country, and of what our country, through the Charter, has given the world.

"Our democracy would not be as strong without the Charter. For this, I salute former Liberal Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau for his vision of Canada in repatriating the Canadian Constitution with the Charter of Rights and Freedoms embedded within it. I also salute his Attorney General, who later became Prime Minister, Jean Chretien for his tireless effort throughout the process." said Brent St. Denis

It truly is a shame that today's Prime Minister, Mr. Harper, lacks the vision of Trudeau and Chretien and has worked tirelessly to undermine it. Mr. Dion, on the other hand, has committed that a new Liberal government would reinstate the Law Commissions of Canada and the Court Challenges Program cut by Mr. Harper's Conservatives. It would institute a fair, non-partisan judicial selection process and would increase federal funding for legal aid to provide all Canadians with access to adequate legal representation.

Be active today and every day!

By Joelle Martel, Health Promotion Worker

Canada's new Food Guide has many additions. In the latest version, there is a stronger emphasis on active living. This component builds on Canada's Physical Activity Guide, which recommends 30 to 60 minutes of moderate physical activity for adults on most days and 90 minutes for children and youth every day. By using both guides together, everyone can get help to lead healthier lifestyles!

Healthy eating and being active go hand in hand. Healthy eating gives you the essential nutrients and energy you need to keep your body moving. By eating well and being active, you can expect to:

- increase your overall health
- lower your risk of disease

 -maintain a healthy body weight
 -feel better
 -increase your energy
 -maintain strong muscles and bones
 -decrease your stress

We live in a society where everything is at our convenience: using elevators and escalators, eating prepackaged foods and shopping online, for example. Physical inactivity is dangerous to our health. In 2000/01, 51 per cent of Sudbury residents were considered inactive. Our bodies are made to move, so make an investment in your health and commit to leading an active lifestyle!

Physical activity doesn't have to be hard or take a lot of time to help your body stay healthy and reduce the risks of disease. You can achieve your daily physical activity goals by including various activities in your daily routine. This doesn't mean you have to run on the treadmill for an hour, unless that's what you enjoy doing. Simply choose to do something that you like. Remember to start slowly and build up. Start by doing three 10-minute sessions in your day and you will be off to a healthier you! If you are already doing some light activities, move up to more moderate ones.

Here are some ideas on how you can incorporate physical activity into your day:

- Do light stretches and bending at your desk to keep your muscles relaxed and joints mobile.
- Park further from the entrance and walk.
- Take a brisk 10-minute walk on your lunch or after supper- bring a colleague or a friend!

-Walk, cycle and rollerblade when doing quick errands.

-Get off the bus one stop earlier and walk the rest of the way.

-Take the stairs up and down! Every step counts towards the recommended 10,000 steps per day. Borrow a pedometer from your local library or the Sudbury & District Health Unit to track your steps.

Being active should come naturally. Find an activity that you enjoy.

Doing an activity that you take pleasure in will keep you motivated, and you won't feel like you have to do it. Different people like different activities. Some people prefer organized activities such as a yoga class, group aerobics or organized sports. Others prefer a walk in the park, playing outdoors with the kids or going for a bike ride. Find an activity that suits your needs and likes!

Increase the fun factor in your activities by inviting your family, friends or colleagues to join in! Together, you can:

- Plan an active outing: hiking, mountain biking, sliding or skating!

- Have everyone's kids over for a game of ball hockey or basketball and take part in the fun!
- Explore your neighbourhood: take a walk to a nearby park or outdoor rink.

-Pick up a map book from Rainbow Routes and explore a different trail every month-bring a picnic and make a day of it!

Visit www.healthy-canadians.ca today for your copy of Canada's Food Guide and Canada's Physical Activity Guide, and take a step towards a healthier you!

OPSEU Local 652 mourns MNR budget cuts

Black is the colour of choice in the MNR office in Chapleau every Thursday to let their clothes do: the talking. Local staff members are donning their black shirts in a display of mourning for the budget cuts' that are preventing them from doing their jobs in managing and protecting your local natural resources. Ministry of Natural Resources staff across Ontario are wearing black to work every Thursday to protest cuts to their ministry. Those employees that must wear uniforms (Conservation Officers and Provincial Parks Staff) are tying orange flagging tape to their vehicle antennas. The cuts are effecting not only local Ministry operations but also your local Provincial Parks. The MNR has a long and proud history; a history which has been deteriorating with years of budget cuts. In an age where the environment should be of utmost concern, it seems the provincial government has missed the mark.

When you think of Ontario, what comes to mind?

For many of us, Ontario means the Canadian Shield. It means forests and lakes. It means fish and wildlife. It means NATURE.

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is responsible for managing and protecting the natural world in Ontario on behalf of all its citizens. Yet in the last 15 years, the MNR has seen this crucial work slashed.

The Ontario Public Service Employees Union represents over 4,300 MNR employees. We are devoted to restoring and rebuilding the MNR so it can once again do the job that Ontarians want and expect it to do. With a provincial election set for Oct. 4, 2007, now is the time.

The MNR budget: The overall budget of the Ministry in 2006-07 is 24% lower, in real terms, than it was in 1992-93. The budget for the actual work of the Ministry (not counting transfers to industry and other outside organizations) is 31% lower. In 2006-07 alone, the MNR's budget not counting transfers fell by more than 5% in real terms. This latest cut has had severe effects in many areas. For more information about the cuts to the MNR go to: www.savethemnr.ca

May is rabies awareness month

May is when we start spending more time outdoors, and chance encounters with neighbourhood pets and wild animals increase. It's also a time when we could come in contact with rabid animals. Rabies is always present in our wildlife, and the possibility of a domestic animal becoming infected cannot be overlooked. "Pets should be immunized against rabies and have a current certificate of vaccination to protect both you and your family," says Bob Moulton, an environmental support officer in the health unit's Environmental Health Division.

There are several things you can do to help identify and prevent the spread of rabies:

- Don't let your pets roam free.
- Keep your pets

indoors at night.

- Do not touch or feed a wild animal.
- Learn to identify the signs of rabies in animals.
- Teach children to stay away from wild or stray animals, and animals that are behaving strangely.
- Report all animal bites to the health unit.

In 2006, the Sudbury & District Health Unit investigated 216 animal bites or suspect rabid animal contacts. Twenty-three people were vaccinated with post-exposure prophylaxis treatment. Rabies is a virus that is fatal if you are infected and not treated.

If you come in contact with, or are bitten by any unfamiliar animal, immediately wash the wound with soap and water and get medical attention as soon as possible.

For more information about rabies and rabies prevention, call the Sudbury & District Health Unit's Environmental Health Division at (705) 522-9200, ext. 398 or visit www.sdhu.com.

Community Revitalization Project To Strengthen And Diversify Sault Ste. Marie Economy: McGuinty Government Invests In Northern Ontario

CNW - The McGuinty government is supporting community revitalization in Sault Ste. Marie by investing in the implementation of a community resilience plan, David Oraziotti, MPP for Sault Ste. Marie, announced today on behalf of Leona Dombrowsky, Minister of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs.

"The implementation of a community resilience plan builds upon the 'Community Portrait' project to increase Sault Ste. Marie's capacity to adapt to economic change," said Oraziotti. "This project demonstrates the positive outcomes that can be achieved when leaders from different sectors work together towards a common goal."

The province will contribute $70,528 to help Algoma University College, along with its partners, Northern Ontario Research, Development, Ideas and Knowledge Institute Inc., and the Sault Ste. Marie Economic Development Corporation, implement a community resilience plan, based on the results and findings from a 2005 Rural Economic Development project "Community Portrait of Sault Ste. Marie". One project component of the resilience plan will be a pilot project to enhance the Kinsmen-Hiawatha Park.

"Over 60 leaders from all sectors in Sault Ste. Marie will collaborate to build on the strengths and gaps identified in the 'Community Portrait of Sault Ste. Marie' project," said Dr. Linda Savory-Gordon, associate professor, Algoma University College. "Thanks to the support of the provincial government, our goal of implementing a community resilience plan with the objective of making Sault Ste.

Marie a more resilient community is now attainable. Increasing the Sault's resilience is crucial to the success of its economic diversification."

Let's celebrate Canada Health Day

This year's Canada Health Day theme is Your Health, Your Future. On Saturday, May 12, health facilities, agencies, community health organizations, schools and public health offices are celebrating Canada Health Day. Public health professionals contribute to the health of Canadians in many ways, including researching and tracking chronic diseases, ensuring a food and water safety, as well as providing vaccinations, clean water, pasteurization and better living conditions, to name but a few.

Canada Health Day is dedicated to recognizing exciting new developments occurring in public health and public health care fields. In addition to being a time of reflection on past health accomplishments, it's also a time of appreciation for the people who deliver health services and a time to consider future health needs and health system capacity.

Province expands restricted fire zone to Northeastern Ontario

The Ministry of Natural Resources is expanding the Restricted Fire Zone already in place for Northwestern Ontario to include Northeastern Ontario. Implementation of a Restricted Fire Zone is aimed at reducing the number of human-caused wildfires, especially brush and grass fires that are threatening people and property. The fire hazard is extreme because of prolonged dry conditions and strong winds.

Effective at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, May 10, 2007 until further notice, all open burning is banned outdoors. The restrictions apply to the Ministry of Natural Resources districts of Hearst, Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Timmins, Wawa, Chapleau, Kirkland Lake, Sudbury, North Bay, Sault Ste Marie and Manitoulin Island. The exception is the far north and south of the French River A Restricted Fire Zone remains in place in Northwestern Ontario in the districts of Red Lake, Kenora, Fort Frances, Dryden, Sioux Lookout, Thunder Bay and Nipigon. The exception is the far north and the northern part of Nipigon District. Please contact your local ministry office to see if your area is affected. Under the Restricted Fire Zone regulations, all burning permits are suspended and all open fires are prohibited. Campfires may be allowed at some organized campgrounds or parks that use approved fire pits and meet certain other criteria. Campers should check with the owners or operators first. Within the Restricted Fire Zone area, people can still use portable gas stoves for cooking and warmth but the public is asked to use extreme caution. Ministry fire staff and conservation officers will strictly enforce the ban on open burning.
