Northern Ontario hospital-acquired infection tour urges health minister to bring down death rates

At a Chapleau media conference today, hospital staff urged Ontario's health minister to bring down death rates from hospital-acquired infections by lowering hospital occupancy rates, doing a deep clean of Ontario's hospitals and providing more resources for cleaning and infection control.

Sharon Richer, the northern Ontario president of the Ontario Council of Hospital Unions (OCHU) of the Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), said the suffering and deaths of thousands of Ontarians from hospital-acquired infections are so regrettable because they are preventable. To draw attention to this leading cause of preventable death, OCHU/CUPE has launched a 15 community tour of northern Ontario, using a theatre set representing a hospital room to demonstrate the disinfection of a room that has been occupied by a patient with a superbug like C. difficile, VRE or MRSA.

Studies suggest that hospital-acquired infections kill between 3,200 and 5,000 Ontarians each year. While health care leaders make a direct connection between hospital overcrowding to superbug outbreaks, the Ontario government plans to cut another 5,000 acute care beds province-wide. Hospital bed occupancy is at a record level (over 97 per cent) and Ontario has fewer hospital beds per 1,000 of the population than any province. Countries, like the Netherlands, with much lower occupancy rates have correspondingly lower death rates from hospital-acquired infections.

Between 1991 and 2003, a period when 16,000 hospital beds were cut in Ontario, the rate of patients contracting C. difficile increased almost fivefold. Outbreaks of other types of hospital-associated infections also rose.

The mobile hospital room tour will visit Cochrane, New Liskeard, Sioux Lookout, Kenora and Fort Frances in May and June.

President of CUPE Local 4801, Joanne Boyle learning the proper steps of disinfecting a hospital room after it has been vacated.

"We hope to significantly raise public awareness this spring," said Marc Lafrance, OCHU Francophone vice-president. "The Ontario government needs to require hospitals to report their death rates from hospital-acquired infections, as other jurisdictions do."

Richer and Lafrance called on the province "to provide resources for a deep clean of Ontario hospitals, as the United Kingdom has done.

Contracted-out hospital cleaning, a practice the Royal College of Nurses has said is dangerous and unsafe, should be prohibited. And, we need more resources for cleaning on an ongoing basis and for infection control."

Ultimate fishing town: A race to the finish

With only a few days left in the Ultimate Fishing Town contest the race continues to be a tight one.

The final round of voting will end on Tuesday, May 31st at 6:00 p.m. A continued effort to vote for Chapleau is needed. Our main competition in the race is Port Colborne.

Chapleau seems to do better in the voting aspect during the weekend and Port Colborne seems to take over the lead during the week.

This is somewhat of a David and Goliath scenario as Port Colborne has a population of close to 19000.

Win or loose,

this competition has united the community and all Chapleauites, regardless of their location. There is no such thing as an ex-Chapleauite.

As a community, any upcoming challenges that we may be facing in the future, will certainly be alleviated by this apparent community spirit. Strength is in numbers as we stand united.

I read in the Chapleau Express that boys hockey in Chapleau just received a donation of $5,000, enough to completely outfit 10 hockey players, fantastic. There are a few warranted thank you notes that should also be tendered. First the unknown mother who wrote in on my blog during the recent elections and said, "If elected what are you going to do for our youth? The cost of hockey equipment for my children is prohibitive" The hockey season was fast approaching. This was motivational stimulus. I thought of a duffle bag of hardly used hockey equipment in my daughter Arden's garage. My daughter, Kim, notified her teaching colleagues and parents of students in Holy Trinity Private School in Richmond Hill and received four car loads of used hockey equipment. The last shipment will be delivered to Chapleau in June 2011. A good friend and philanthropist sent me $250 seed money to get the ball rolling. Now we can stamp "successful project" and continue onwards. I remember a saying, "The harder you work the luckier you get." Hats off to Ms. Marianne Leach and Mr. Sylvestre our local team coaches and instructors. Thank you NHLPA and Mr. Matt Langen.

Respectfully Dr.
William R. Pellow.

Chapleauites everywhere 'returning home' to vote for community to win Ultimate Fishing Town contest with social media making participation possible

Chapleau Moments

by Michael J. Morris

The other day when Henry Byce messaged me on Facebook, "Sorry Chief.....they're a little bigger than the 2 you caught!! LOL", it struck me just how involved Chapleauites had become in the contest to decide the Ultimate Fishing Town in Canada.

From the Chapleau Express I knew that people living in Chapleau were fully supporting it, but suddenly it seemed, given social media like Facebook, Twitter, Youtube, and yes, even email, that everyone with a connection to the community was voting and contacting friends and family, near and far, to vote for Chapleau.

Henry Byce home to Chapleau for fishing

Every morning when I get up and log in to Facebook, I am greeted by folks who no longer live in Chapleau but are part of the virtual community united in a common effort to bring victory to their home town. Fishing stories abound.

Just this morning, Hugh McGoldrick, Earlene Chambers, Paul Carson, Jamie Thibault, Bob Lewis and Lise McCarthy had posted messages on Facebook urging us to vote. Others were indicating they had. It happens several times a day as Chapleau remained in a tight race with Port Colborne for the title. Voting ends on May 31. Here is link:

<http://www.wfnfishingtown.ca/town/chapleau-on>

I am delighted that Chapleau people are rallying in support of the community. It is great to see the community spirit.

Also as many know, after joining the faculty of College of the Rockies I led a team that developed the first college post graduate program in New Media Communications in Canada, way back in 1994. Many back then told me that email was okay but would never really catch on and virtual communities were a non starter. Social media consisted of chat rooms.

Today, Chapleau, the little town that can, is receiving global attention as it battles to win this contest, all because internet technology is providing the tools and Chapleauites everywhere are participating. To adapt an old dictum: "You can take the boy or girl out of Chapleau but you can't take Chapleau out of the boy or girl".

The photo of me to which Henry was referring was taken at Healy on Lake Windermere, 17 CPR miles west of Chapleau at our camp circa 1948. I had caught the fish from Sunday School rock, so named because Mrs. F. M. 'Maud' Hands would conduct Sunday school classes there. Henry sent me photo from his catch, taken in 2010 on a fishing trip home to Chapleau. You win Henry!

Dr. Vince Crichton, who still spends summers at the family camp on Mulligan's Bay was in touch by email with an interesting insight into how the pickerel arrived in the Chapleau (Kebsquasheshing) River.

Vince wrote: "Where did the pickerel (walleye) in the Chapleau River between the 18 mile rapids and Chapleau come from? They were not always there. For many summers while attending high school and university I had the privilege of working for Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources which in the late 50's and 60s was known as the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. The only fish in the aforementioned part of the river were pike, suckers, whitefish.

"One of my summer jobs was to live trap pickerel in Nemegosenda Lake and these fish in turn were relocated to Henderson Lake which is about half way between Chapleau and the 18 mile rapids. Myself along with Robert Lemieux and occasionally conservation officer Tom O'Shaughnessy would spend almost all of July camped in a tent at the north end of the lake capturing pickerel.

"My father (Vince Crichton Sr.) would come in with the Beaver aircraft every 3 or 4 days and airlift the fish to Henderson Lake. The aircraft was fitted with appropriate tanks and oxygen to ensure there was no mortality during the short flite to the river. We used what was called a trap net - when the fish were removed for the trap they were placed in holding pens which we had constructed along the shore. The camp site was at the north end of the lake and the trap net was just below the old dam at the point where the Nemegosenda river exits the lake. The net was secured to the old dam and it had a long centre lead extending down river from the capture box and 2 wings extending at 45 degree angles from the centre lead all of which helped divert fish into the capture box. Care had to be taken when lifting the net (which was pulled over the side of the canoe) daily to ensure the square stern canoe we used did not flip in the current."

Here is one of Hugh McGoldrick's Facebook messages to rally us to vote: "Chapleau is movin' up again.... We need to keep it going. We got 'plenty of fish' and people know it!!! Now lets prove it with 'plenty of votes!!' Come fishing, maybe you'll catch the fish of your dreams!!!! Vote Chapleau!!!"

Hugh also recalled: "One of my best fishing memories was the time I flew out with John Theriault and John Tangie for an afternoon of fishing. With a canoe strapped to the pontoon we took off in the Beaver and headed about 1/2 mile north of Chapleau landing on Trump Lake. It didn't look like much of a lake but the lake trout we pulled in suggested otherwise. We spent a few hours there and then packed all of our gear back onto the plane and headed about 1/2 hour east to the Chapleau River. We landed just below a nice rapid and within an hour we had our limit of pickerel. So, we jumped back in the plane and flew home to Chapleau. You can't ask for much better fishing than that".

For a real good Chapleau fishing story I recommend that you read 'Trespassing in God's Country' by George Theriault where he relates catching a 35-pound Northern, and after it was finally landed, his son John, then five years old, asked, "Is it an alligator...?"

Chapleau Moments

Bill Groves, long time Chapleau resident has been sharing some of his fishing photos starring his grandchildren who are clearly enjoying their trips on the pontoon boat.

Paul Carson shared a precious moment on a fishing trip with his father Ron:

"In the morning we would venture up the lake to a larger camp and fill our stringer with walleye and lake trout, never go hungry because we always caught plenty of fish.... lunch would be a shore line lunch over a camp fire.... and dinner would be even more fish.... trout on the fire with lemon wedges and spices, how the meat would flake off because it was cooked perfectly.... the smallest things about fishing with my dad and brother as kids I remember fondly."

Janice Selin reminded me of a tradition started by the Chapleau Int A Huskies in the 1970s. "There is a small creek just when you turn onto the Sheppard & Morse & Island Lake road. When it was not dried up we use to creep up not to let the fish hear something was coming.

"All you needed to do was drop a small daredevil in & we would get many little brook trout. On New Year's day it was a tradition that all the Husky team would go to Five mile lake & ice fish. The guys chipped in & bought an electric ice auger & the girls would get a fire started on the lake & place down the Hudson Bay blankets. All the kids were very young then but we all had a great time."

Reflecting on fishing and the Huskies, I have to admit that I never went along on any of their fishing trips in Chapleau, but I did go deep sea fishing with a number of the players off the Florida coast. Danny Vaughan caught a shark, and he was in touch recently so we shared memories of the experience.

In fact as the voting ends on May 31 to decide the Ultimate Fishing Town, I hope to be on my way to Florida for my first visit in years. I am not planning to go shark fishing though. Keep voting Chapleau wherever you are. I will vote before I leave. My email is mj.morris@live.ca

THANK YOU

Thanks to Father Sébastien Groleau for saying Mass and his kind words and for being there with us all throughout our ordeal.

Thanks to the choir and organist and our daughter Jen who paid tribute to her father with her angelic voice.

Thanks to drummer and singer M.Lee as a tribute to Bud as an elder of Fox Lake. Thanks to all pallbearers and honorary pallbearers and all the support from family and friends from near and far. Thanks to Dr. Levenstein and all the great nurses, Joanne B and kitchen staff who served all refreshments to our family.

Thanks to the Township for the use of the hall for Bud's wake and to Stinson Funeral Home of South Porcupine. Thanks to Earle, Sheldon and Jen for their fond farewell words. Thanks to the Sacred Heart Funeral committee for a wonderful lunch which is a great community service. Thanks to the Royal Canadian Legion for the favour and to all its members who came in full dress.

Thanks to all for Mass cards, sympathy cards, prayers, phone calls and food donations. Thanks to Chris & Paula who opened up their home for our use. To the neighbours Pat & Verna and Kathleen and Sheldon's little sweetheart Maureen who all helped out at home. Thanks to Denise's Flowers and Such.

Thanks to Angele who arranged for Bud's last ride home as per his wishes to say goodbye to family and friends and to rest in peace in the Chapleau cemetery.
